FUNSTON IN PERIL

Marines and bluejackets who captured Vera Cruz putting back to their ships with their wounded comrades, after the United States regulars under General Funston had taken charge of the city These men may again be called upon to enter the city to support Funston, if the Mexican Federals attack the United States lines.

BLIND GIRL PLEADS

BIG ARMY NEEDED

'UNFAIR TO SIGHTLESS STUDENT'

The life happiness of a blind girl may depend upon the outcome of a hearing today before the State Board of Education on the question of issuing a Worcester Normal School diploma to Miss Mary Curran.

The hearing, which is to be held in the Ford building, is the result of a petition by Charles J. Murphy of Worcester. The principal of the school refused to issue a diploma to Miss Curran because she is blind, and a storm of protest has arisen.

Murphy is backed by a host of prominent persons and friends of the young woman, who are expected to testify at the hearing today. They are loud in their condemnation of the principal's action and demand that the board rescind the order.

Miss Curran was heartbroken when told she could not receive a diploma. She studied hard during her course in the school, and although deprived of her sight is reported to be one of the most brilliant students in the institution. She looked forward to her diploma as one of the brightest epochs in her life.

When the principal's decision became known, friends of Miss Curran rallied to her assistance and a petition was started which Murphy presented to the State Board of Education.

Helen Bones "Next White House" Bride

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The next White House bride, according to the omen of the ring hidden in the wedding cake distributed at the Wilson-McAdoo nuptials, will be Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, cousin of the President and a member of the Wilson family. Miss Bones drew the ring after the cake had been cut by the bride with the sword of Dr. Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., the best man.

The piece of money hidden in the cake which predicts the coming of riches, fell to Franklin Houston, son of the Secretary of Agriculture. Nancy Lane, daughter of the Secretary of the Interior, by the same sign, was marked for the best luck in the world.

Royalty at Burial of Duke of Argyle

LONDON, May 8.—Imposing ceremonies which were witnessed by King George, Queen Mary and many other notables, marked the funeral of the late Duke of Argyle. The services were conducted in Westminster Abbey which was thronged by members of Parliament, envoys from the diplomatic corps and prominent persons from the ranks of private life. American Ambassador W. H. Page and Mrs. Page were among the Americans present.

Woman Says She Set Big Chicago Fire

CHICAGO, May 8.—Mrs. Bridget O'Leary's cow did not cause the big Chicago fire of 1871 by kicking over a lamp, according to a deathbed confession made by Miss Rebecca Thrift, seventy years old, who died in the county infirmary in Lima, Ohio. Miss Thrift with her last breath gasped out that she was responsible for the conflagration and that she fled through the flames and confusion to avoid arrest for an act which preyed upon her mind ever since. Her story is being investigated.

WASHINGTON SURE BIG WAR MOVE IS NEAR

WASHINGTON, May 8.—President Huerta has notified the mediators that the dispatch of any further troops by the United States to Vera Cruz will be tantamount to a breach of the armistice, and will be the signal for him to declare the truce at an end. This would mean the reopening of hostilities.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—At no time since the beginning of the Mexican imbroglio has the United States been so near actual warfare—military operations on a large scale—as today. These things have happened:

1—Mexico has protested to the A. B. C. mediators against our activities in Vera Cruz as a violation of the armistice.

2—General Funston has appealed for reinforcements; and a code message from him stirred the War and Navy Departments to strenuous activity today.

3—The War Department has complete plans to throw an expeditionary force across the northern border under Major General Franklin Bell.

4—Twenty thousand Mexicans are concentrating against Vera Cruz, where General Funston has 7,000 men and an inadequate equipment of field artillery.

McAdoo May Become Paris Ambassador

WASHINGTON, May 8.—William Gibbs McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, who married Miss Eleanor Wilson, is slated for the post of Ambassador to France, according to a rumor in political circles. It has been a time-honored rule that a member of the President's immediate family cannot hold a position in the Cabinet. Thus McAdoo would have to relinquish his secretaryship. How he will be taken care of is causing much discussion.

General's Son at Tech Likes Huerta

Technology possesses at least one loyal supporter of Mexico in the person of Gonzolo Garita, Jr., son of Inspector General Garita of Huerta's army. He is in his sophomore year. Garita considers Huerta the only man strong enough to hold the controlling hand in Mexico, and says that the reports of his excesses have been greatly exaggerated.

THAW SPRINGS A SURPRISE IN FIGHT FOR BAIL

CONCORD, N. H., May 8.—Harry Thaw's attorneys planned to spring a surprise at today's hearing before Judge Aldrich by opening a new and vigorous fight to free Thaw on bail. Harry, who went fishing with Officer Stevens, his bodyguard, yesterday and brought back several good Fencook trout, held a long conference with Merrill Shurtleff, his chief counsel, today.

William Travers Jerome came from New York today to file his appeal from Judge Aldrich's decision refusing to allow Thaw's extradition. Jerome will take the matter to the Supreme Court, and he will contend

Villa and Zapata Bet on Race to Capital

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 8.—Colonel Y. Romero, a Constitutionalist leader in the State of Sonora, Mex., who has arrived here, says:

"Villa and Zapata have wagered $50,000 on who will be the first to enter Mexico City. Huerta's days are numbered. The Rebel boast that he will fall within fifteen days appears to be well founded. His execution within that period is inevitable unless he flees the country."

MATTAPOISETT FOLK LOOKING FOR M'ADOOS

The possibility that William Gibbs McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, and his bride, who was Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, daughter of President and Mrs. Wilson, may arrive to spend their honeymoon in a trim and unpretentious cottage overlooking Buzzards Bay, had Mattapoisett pleasantly excited today.

The cottage, which is the Summer home of J. G. Coleman on Ned's Point, Mattapoisett, is between the Casino and the light house. The couple visited the cottage several weeks ago when they went to New Bedford on the revenue cutter Onondago. At that time they declared that they would spend their honeymoon there.

The McAdoos, following the ceremony at the White House, boarded the private car Philadelphia at College Park, Prince Georges County, Md. The car was attached to the Philadelphia-New York express on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The private car was separated from the rest of the train by a blind baggage car. Their automobile was followed to College Park by secret service men.

There were rumors that the couple would stop off in Baltimore, but so far as could be learned they did not leave the train at the Baltimore station.

ROCKEFELLER TO BE CALLED IN BILLARD CASE

WASHINGTON, May 8.—William Rockefeller, George F. Baker, Lewis Ledyard and George McCullough, all directors of the New Haven & Hartford Railroad, will be subpoenaed to appear at the New Haven & Hartford Railroad investigation before Interstate Commerce Commissioner McChord next Wednesday, Chief Counsel Folk stated today.

FREE HAND ON $1,000,000.

Startling revelations as to the way in which the financial affairs of the Metropolitan Steamship Company of Maine were handled were made today by Birdsey F. Case, treasurer of the company, who told the commissioners that he had funds amounting at times to nearly a million dollars subject to his check without countersignature. He could do as he wanted to with the funds, he said, though his salary was only $2,500 and he was required to give no bond.

Case succeeded Grover Cleveland Richards as treasurer of the company and was put in charge of all the funds. Case declared that President Austin of the company also had power to check against the company's funds without consulting the treasurer. Case said he never issued money as treasurer to avoid public opinion. He did not know whether President Austin had done so. Case said that prior to his selection as treasurer of the Metropolitan Company he had served in a legal capacity for the New Haven, searching titles and transacting light law business.

He also was attorney for the Columbia Construction Company, a concern which built a short interurban line in Eastern Connecticut. This constituted his only experience in transportation matters, he said, and he testified that he did not attribute his election as treasurer of the Metropolitan Company to any reputation as an expert in steamship transportation.

RECALLS BILLARD DEAL.

He testified that the Metropolitan Steamship Company was a bona fide concern, with physical assets. These included five freight steamers, which operated between New York and Boston. Mr. Case said he had a faint recollection concerning a note made by the Metropolitan Company to the Billard Company for about a million dollars, but his memory was vague as to the transaction. George W. Apsey, comptroller of the Metropolitan Company, would know more about these transactions than he, Case said.

It was indicated that Apsey might be called. Case said that Attorney Robbins came to him and suggested that he take the job as treasurer of the Metropolitan Company. The witness declared, however, that he was not aware of any connection between the Metropolitan and the New Haven companies.

Case said that among the directors of the Metropolitan company were Galen Stone, James Dean and Harold Williams, all of Boston. Case testified that he became acquainted with E. D. Robbins, general counsel for the New Haven, in connection with the law practice at Hartford, Ct. He said that at one time he had a desk in Robbins' office in Hartford.

Charles E. Linsley, a manufacturer, of Meriden, Ct., testified that he knew nothing concerning the affairs of the Billard Company.

"Then you were a dummy director of the Billard Company?" asked Counsel Folk.

"Absolutely," replied Linsley.

DUMMY FOR BILLARD.

Linsley testified that he received five shares of Billard Company stock when he joined with Mr. Billard in the organization of the company. He said he had consented to act as a dummy for Billard merely because he considered it a neighborly act.

"Mr. Billard was the whole thing," said Linsley.

"When you attended the Billard Company directors' meeting, Mr. Billard pulled the strings on you, didn't he?" asked Folk.

"Yes," replied Linsley.

"Didn't Mr. Robbins give it a jerk occasionally?"

"No, Mr. Robbins was merely an attorney for Mr. Billard," said Linsley.

"What do you know about the Boston & Maine stock deal out of which Mr Billard, through the Billard Company, made some odd millions?" asked Examiner Gartner.

"Nothing," replied Linsley. "I never heard of the deal and did not know that Mr. Billard or the Billard Company ever held any such stock."

"Did you as a reputable manufacturer consider it wise business policy to act as a director of a company concerning the affairs of which you know nothing for fear any curiosity?" asked Folk.

"Well, no," replied the witness.

"Don't let them make a dummy of you again," advised Folk as the aged manufacturer was excused.

SENATE KILLS FIREMEN'S TWO PLATOON BILL

The Firemen's Two Platoon bill was killed in the State Senate today by a standing vote of 5 to 16.

A request for the call of the roll was defeated, in order that Senators might not be placed on record.

It is likely that an effort will be made on Monday to have this vote reconsidered, or at least to place Senators on record. The bill had already been passed by the House.

The Two Platoon bill provided for a day force and a night force of firemen in Massachusetts cities of 50,000 and more. Supporters of the bill urged that under existing conditions the uniformed fireman is practically a prisoner, who sees little or nothing of home and family.

It was urged in opposition that the bill would destroy the efficiency of the fire-fighting forces and, moreover, that the expense would be an enormous burden to taxpayers. Boston alone, it was represented, would spend an additional $250,000 a year if the bill became a law.

Repeated refusals of the Senate to go on record in a roll call amount to one of the minor sensations of the legislative year.

Supreme Court Will Decide Point in Excise Board Suit

What period of time constitutes a year under the statute allowing the granting of licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors, was raised an interesting question of law in mandamus proceedings brought by William B. Adams against the licensing board of the city of Boston. Judge Hammond of the Supreme Judicial Court has reserved the point involved for determination by the full court.

In 1913 Adams obtained a license but when he made application to renew it in 1914 Mrs. Jones, as an abutting owner, protested. The licensing board thereupon declined to grant a license to Adams.

Henry V. Cunningham, who appears for Adams, contends that as Adams paid the license fee for the years 1913 and 1912, the protest of Mrs. Jones has no legal effect.

Huerta Minister Suicide, Is Report

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—Querido Moheno, minister of commerce and industry in the cabinet of President Huerta, committed suicide by shooting last night at Mexico City, according to a dispatch received from the capitol today by El Presentte, a local Spanish newspaper. The report is not confirmed. The dispatch said Moheno killed himself because his resignation had not been accepted by Huerta.

INTRODUCE NEW DANCES FOR BIG MAY FESTIVAL

Mrs. W. S. Butler, whose twenty-sixth annual May Festival will be given in Mechanics Hall Saturday afternoon and evening, has completed her arrangements. Under the direction of Mrs. Lilla Vytes Wyman, a series of remarkable dances will be given. Hundreds of children will take part.

Pauline Mason will make her seventh appearance at the festival. Norma Dowsley and Louise Brown are two other children who will "star."

The big "Maypole Dance" with the whole "cast" taking part, will be the big feature of the festival. The program reads as follows:

1—Children of Ye Olde Days—A merry romp and round of fifty children dressed in Greenaway costumes.

2 — Apple Blossom Time in Normandy—A hundred children in peasant costume.

3—Chinese Lantern Parade—James Kennedy is the dragon.

4—Primitive Ritual Dance—Posing movements of animals and birds.

Debutantes' Dream—By Miss Mildred Macumber and Clayton Robinson.

6 — Summer Days—Maids and youths Saturday afternoon in Summer.

7—Solo Dances—By Misses Mollie Proctor, Marcelaine Deane, Ruth Lipson, Theres Weiscopf, Jessie Cushing, Doris Steward, Caroline Burnie, Gladys Stewart and Laura Brown.

8—Marjorie Eccles—Old French dance in days of gown, worn in eighteenth century.

9—Stella Best—The best ever, in "The Gold Dust Twins."

10 — Margaret McDonough — The Fantastic Hare and There—Which is a harlequin of steps from Scotland, Ireland and the Hungarian Gypsies.

Pauline Mason — In Friends. Santa Marie — By the famous Charles de Burneau.

12—Phases of modern dancing in ballroom and display work by Miss Amelia Burnham and Mr. Le Roy Young, assisted by other couples.

WALSH CALLS FOR ONE MAN HEALTH BOARD

Governor Walsh sent to the Legislature today a message recommending the complete reorganization of the State Board of Health. The message was accompanied by a bill, said to be acceptable to a majority of the members of the Committee on Public Health and indorsed by some of the leading physicians of Massachusetts.

Under the Walsh bill the "State Department of Health," as it is called, is to consist of a Commissioner of Health, a Public Health Council, directors of divisions, district health officers and other employes.

The Health Commissioner, to be appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Council, will have a six-year term at $7,500 and travelling expenses. He will administer the laws and regulations and will appoint and remove directors of divisions, district health officers, inspectors and othe employes and fix thei compensations.

The Public Health Council is to consist of the commissioner and six appointive members, at least three of whom must be physicians. They will be paid but $10 a day, and that only when actually in conference. The Council will have power to establish and amend rules and regulations under the health laws.

In the bill is a provision for the immediate establishment of these "divisions":

Administration.
Communicable diseases.
Sanitary engineering.
Food and drugs.
Laboratories.
Child welfare.

The Commissioner will appoint a director for each of these six divisions, with the approval of the Public Health Council, and shall prescribe the duties of each division.

Massachusetts will be divided into "eight or more" sanitary districts. Each district will have a district health officer. These district health officers will be paid not exceeding $3,500 a year. They are to give their entire time to the work.

Two Women Injured in Auto Accident on Weston Highway

Mrs. Henry Newton and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Newton, both of South Sudbury, were painfully injured when their automobile was struck by a machine driven by John Gately of River street, West Newton, at Weston. Mrs. Herbert Newton, who was driving, had taken the side of the road to allow one machine to pass and just as she returned to the centre of the highway, the second machine crashed into her auto throwing her and her companion who was picked up unconscious, to the ground. Gately was not held when it was learned that the women's injuries were not serious, but he will be summoned into Court on the charge of reckless driving.

Religious Plays for Baptists' Meeting

Religious plays will be given daily during the sessions of the Baptist convention in this city from June 17 to 25. These plays will have a bearing upon the missionary work of the church and will be a new way to get people interested in missions. They will be given in Jordan Hall, in charge of Rev. Robert W. Van Kirk, chairman of the committee.

MORE TROOPS ARE DEMANDED FOR COLORADO

DENVER, Col., May 8.—Despite the presence for ten days of federal soldiers through nearly all of the coal strike region, officers in charge of the government troops admitted today that conditions were serious.

Major W. A. Holbrook, speaking in behalf of Colonel Lockett, the commanding officer, announced that more troops would be asked for soon. He declared the number now in the field was insufficient to handle the situation. Major Holbrook's order that all persons in the strike zone be disarmed was said today to be principally responsible for the present situation.

Strikers and mine guards in a few localities have surrendered their arms, but both operators and strikers are crying "fraud." The former charge that the strikers have hidden hundreds of guns and the latter make the same charge against the coal companies.

At many places the bitterness between the two factions has almost reached the point of a renewal of violence. Colonel Lockett today sent a detachment to the Routt County coal fields, where the situation was reported tense. Captain Ralph Horn, commanding twenty militiamen already in the district, reported to Governor Ammons that the strikers had removed children from Oak Creek and that citizens feared an outbreak.

Progressive leaders today severely criticized Governor Ammons and administration leaders in the Legislature for their alleged dilatory tactics in handling the present trouble.

Today was the fifth day of the special session of the Legislature, but nothing so far has been done to alleviate the strike troubles.

SHROUD ARRESTED IN RIOT AT HOME OF ROCKEFELLER

NEW YORK, May 8.—Pedestrians in Fifth avenue at Fifty-fourth street were startled shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, to see a tall figure, completely enveloped in a black shroud, even to head and face, suddenly appear and begin a funeral patrol in front of the residence of William Rockefeller, No. 809 Fifth avenue. He was Al Turner, an I. W. W. sympathizer. A short distance behind him followed a small party of men and women, each of whom wore a band of crape.

A crowd quickly gathered. After spending a few minutes at the residence of William Rockefeller, the mourning party, headed by the shrouded figure, crossed the avenue and proceeded west on Fifty-fourth street until the residence of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at No. 10, was reached.

A small riot followed the arrival of the police. Turner was arrested, tried and sentenced to two months in the workhouse.

Favor Prohibition of Death Penalty

By a vote of sixty to ten, the Ford Hall Town Meeting has gone on record as in favor of an amendment to the State Constitution prohibiting capital punishment. Morris A. Margolis, who presented the resolution, and Jacob London argued strenuously for the issue. The meeting also favors the bill prohibiting the carrying of the red flag. This decision was unanimous.

Sheedy Art Gallery Sells for Mere Song

NEW YORK, May 8.—The late Pat Sheedy, gambler and art connoisseur, would have shed bitter tears at seeing the sacrifice of his treasures on a Fifth avenue art auction block. Chaffee's "Nymphs and Satyr," prised highly by the old collector, was sold for $260, and a small Corot, one of the gems of the collection, brought only $125.

TURNER TELLS OF 'TALKS' WITH STEAD'S SPIRIT

LONDON, May 8.—General Sir Alfred Turner told the London Spiritualist Alliance of several interviews he says he has had with the spirit of W. T. Stead.

"At one seance," he relates, "Mr. Stead told those present what happened in the last minutes of the Titanic wreck. All on board when the vessel sank soon passed over, but they had not the slightest notion they were dead. Stead knew, however, and set to work to try to tell those poor people that they had passed over and that there was at any rate no more physical suffering for them. Shortly afterward he was joined by other spirits, who took part in the missionary work."

Mr. Stead was asked to show himself to the circle. He said: "Not now, but at Cambridge House."

At a meeting which took place there not everybody was sympathetic and the results were poor except that Stead came to them in short, sharp flashes, dressed exactly as when on earth. On the occasion of his last appearance, he said:

"I cannot speak to you, but pursue the truth, pursue the truth. It is all true."

HETTY GREEN REFUSES AID FOR CLEAN-UP DAY

Mrs. Hetty Green, America's richest woman, was reported today as having refused to aid in the clean-up campaign by clearing a vacant lot belonging to her on Elm Hill, Roxbury.

The fact was brought out in an informal meeting in Sirk Hall, No. 2152 Washington street, George C. Morton, chairman of the New England committee, referred to it in a report which he gave to Mrs. Henry D. Forbes, chairman of the Elm Hill district, who could not be present. He said the neighborhood had been trying for some time to get the lot cleared up, without avail, but that the committee had at last obtained permission from an agent to do as much as could be done for it.

"Every one in the neighborhood knows the place," said a resident of the district, "But it has been impossible to get Mrs. Green to take any action to improve the condition of the land."

The meeting scheduled for Tuesday in the North Bennet street branch of the Public Library will take place today.

This will be "fly-prevention day."

POINDEXTER HAILS T. R. VIEW OF CANAL CASE

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Discussing the Panama Canal tolls controversy, Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington State, said today:

"Colonel Roosevelt's statement in the AMERICAN will be a tremendous factor in preserving the full benefits of the canal for this country. It was the principal factor in bringing about its construction and is as high an authority on the question as any human living. To him is chiefly due the credit for making the canal, which had only been talked about before, an accomplished fact.

"I am glad to take note of the fact that the cheering words of Colonel Roosevelt are brought to the people of this country through the AMERICAN, whose enterprise in gathering the news of the world is recognized by everybody.

"Colonel Roosevelt has a high sense of honor, but realizes that honor does not require, rather forbids, a weak surrender of rights. Even Great Britain has expressed a willingness to arbitrate. He properly connects the proposed treaty with Colombia with the canal question. Congress, which was not particularly friendly to Roosevelt, ratified and accepted the treaty with Panama under which we acquired the canal rights.

"HAS RIGHT RING."

"To now admit that this was wrong is to put a stain upon our national record, which the payment of $25,000,000 and an abject apology cannot wipe out. Why should we give Colombia privileges in the canal which we deny ourselves?"

Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota said:

"Colonel Roosevelt's statement has the right ring. I was mighty glad to read it. The surrender of national honor and our sovereignty in the canal zone is to be deprecated, and I still believe in some way the American sense of honor will triumph and we will defeat the attack to repeal the toll exemption."

Representative Hinshaugh of Illinois said:

"Colonel Roosevelt's interview on the Panama tolls question is certainly characteristic and straightforward from the shoulder. I believe the American people are now taking notice on this Panama canal question in a way in which they never took notice before."

"HITS NAIL ON HEAD."

Representative Kahn of California said:

"Colonel Roosevelt's statement is exactly what I expected of him. I think it hits the nail on the head. It is simply a question of graft. This administration ought not to be a party to permit this government being held up. This applies equally to the Colombian treaty and the Panama toll.

"Securing of this statement from Colonel Roosevelt by the AMERICAN is in line with the newspaper enterprise of Mr. Hearst and emphasizes his strong American sympathies and intense American loyalty."

O'GORMAN DECLARES FREE TOLLS REPEAL COLOSSAL BLUNDER

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Entering his solemn protest against what he conceives to be a betrayal of the American people, Senator O'Gorman of New York, chairman of the Senate Committee on Interoceanic Canals and reported author of the free tolls plank of the Baltimore platform, declared in the Senate that the repeal of the free tolls clause of the Panama Canal act would be pronounced by mankind "a colossal blunder and a triumph of British diplomacy."

He asserted that the British claim had neither law nor justice on its side, and he held President Wilson and the Democratic administration to account for their abandonment of the free tolls plank.

National honor, he held, must be founded upon national self respect. Senator O'Gorman made his plea upon three main points. He sought to show, first, that the exemption of American coastwise vessels from payment of tolls is a wise economic policy, not affected by the Hay-Pauncefote treaty; second, that if coastwise vessels fall within the terms of the treaty the exemption still does not violate that instrument; third, that the treaty does not apply to the Panama canal because it was meant to apply only to a canal built on alien soil, while the Panama zone is under American sovereignty.

In support of these contentions Senator O'Gorman marshaled an imposing array of authorities on the economics of American commerce, the history of the negotiation of the treaty itself and the interpretation of the treaty's terms.

John Jarrott and Louise Alexander in Tango Alliance

Louise Alexander and John Jarrott have formed the newest alliance of dancers of the tango and the other modern steps. Mr. Jarrott is now Joan Sawyer's dancing partner. But rumor says Miss Sawyer is to marry Olin Finney, a young New Yorker, and Mr. Jarrott and Miss Alexander have accordingly arranged to work together. They will first appear together at the "Congress of the World's Greatest Dancers" at the Boston Theatre, beginning May 18. Thence they will go to the London Coliseum and will dance on the Continent.

The two will draw $2,000 for their appearance at the Boston Theatre, it is reported. Other dancers at the "Congress" will be Joseph C. Smith, Natalie and Ferrari, Rosie De Vole and Dane Phillips, Plated and Glaser, Bankoff and Girlie, Hooper and Cooke, the Crispe, Colonel Harding and Miss Delaware, Miss Innocence and Orr, Lyman and Chauliac and the Gilding O'Mearas.

To Open Allston Tube in August

The new subway to Allston will be opened in August, it is now expected. Mayor Curley and a party had the first "official" ride from Copley square to the entrance in a special car.

HALT!

Kiss Worth $295

No Tango on Fourth

Operate on Horse

The Board of Education of Newton, N. J., will impose a fine of $5 on the parent of any boy who forges a school excuse.

When Joseph Dunn, a rejected suitor of New York, admitted that Miss Beatrice Probst had kissed him, Justice Rosenthal dismissed Dunn's suit to recover $295 for presents given to Miss Probst during his courtship. "One kiss is worth $295," said the justice.

An operation for appendicitis was performed upon a valuable horse owned by A. R. Chambers of Trenton, N. J. Veterinaries from the University of Pennsylvania removed the appendix and the horse is as well as ever.

Because the death rate of New York is low and the demand for coffins small 600 union casket makers postponed their strike for higher wages until the death rate increases.

A sane Fourth of July committee of Jamaica, N. Y., has decided that the tango is no improvement over fire crackers. They will celebrate with "movies."

Boston Singers Give 'Manon Lescaut'

PARIS, May 8.—A most successful repetition of Puccini's "Manon Lescaut" was given by the Boston Opera company, with Mme Kousnezoff in the title role. The singing of Signor Guilio Crimi, as Des Grieux, was greatly appreciated and in all probability he will be engaged for the next Boston season. It is understood that Mr. Russell has consulted with Mr. Gatti-Casazza for an exchange of artists.

LATE NEWS BY CABLE

American Girl Asks $3,000 Yearly for Life.

LONDON, May 8.—A story of an American woman and the settlement upon her of $3,000 yearly by an English army officer was told in the Chancery Courts when Miss Derryle E. Law, of Atlantic City, brought an action against the executors of Captain Patrick Hamilton, a British army aviator, who was killed recently while flying at Salisbury Plain, to enforce the settlement of an agreement. Captain Hamilton, it was alleged, was to marry her, but the wedding was postponed, he agreeing to settle $3,000 yearly upon her. Eventually he broke off the engagement. The hearing was adjourned.

Gives Dance for Mrs. Leggett.

LONDON, May 8.—Mrs. Leggett, the well known American hostess, gave a brilliant dance preceded by a dinner for forty persons at her residence in Bruton street. The guests included the United States Ambassador and Mrs. Page, Cora Lady Strafford and Lord and Lady Maidstone.

Lee Shubert in London Deal.

LONDON, May 8.—Lee Shubert has closed a contract with George Edwardes to present "The Girl from Bond Street" with an entirely American cast at the Adelphi Theatre in London on May 20. "Sam" Bernard and Ina Claire will have the star parts.

Vienna Paper Attacks Penfield.

VIENNA, May 8.—The Reichspost publishes a bitter attack on Frederic Courtland Penfield, United States Ambassador, for presenting a note to the Foreign Office protesting against the continued delay in the trial of Samuel Altman, general agent in Austria of the Canadian-Pacific Railway.

Expects Steel Trade Boom.

LONDON, May 8.—James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, was a guest of honor at the dinner of the Iron and Steel Institute. He predicted an early improvement in trade conditions in tonnage and values.

Bishop Brent May Accept.

MANILA, May 8.—The probability is that Charles H. Brent, who for thirteen years has been Missionary Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Philippine Islands, will accept the post of Bishop of New Jersey.

NEED 6 MONTHS TO WIN MEXICO CITY WITH GUNS

Arthur J. Morcom, son of the manager of the Mexican Railway, has just arrived with his wife and children from Vera Cruz at his former home in Braintree.

He was among the last of the refugees from Mexico City to Vera Cruz, and upon arriving at the latter place was taken aboard the steamship Mexico on the Ward line.

During his short stay in Vera Cruz, Morcom, who is a Massachusetts Institute of Technology graduate, witnessed the landing of the marines and other events. He declared that "the only way in which Mexico can be conquered now and the dignity of our country be preserved among the Latin-American countries of America, is to call out the militia and give them a lesson from which they won't recover. Unless the United States does this, the United States will be held in disdain by the other countries.

"It was a great sight to notice the expert marksmanship of the Americans," he added. "Why, when the Mexican artillery was firing at the Americans a short distance outside of Vera Cruz, you should have seen the readiness with which the Americans silenced anything further from that direction. It just took about twenty small shells to put the whole Mexican artillery out of commission.

"I was born in Mexico and I know the country pretty well.

"In my opinion, it will take the American about six months to reach Mexico City from Vera Cruz. The Mexican soldier knows the by-ways. The American soldier will have to take to the regular roads.

"You won't find the Mexican soldier, when he is overpowered with numbers, coming out into the open to fight. He will sneak behind the rocks or hills and get in good shots at our men and keep many thousand soldiers of our army guessing where the shots are coming from.

"The Mexican soldier is a hardy sort of a chap. He can carry six weeks' rations on his back. They are wily, these Mexicans."

Refugees Score Wilson for Neglect

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8. — Eight refugees from the Tampico district called on Secretary of the Navy Daniels and protested that their properties there had not been sufficiently protected. They criticized the administration for leaving the protection of the people of Tampico to the British vessels and they said that if it had not been for the British they would never have escaped with their lives.

Husband, in Cell, Told of Decree Suit

CHICAGO, May 8.—Mrs. Dora Schufeldt, wife of the "rich Canadian farmer," has had a deputy sheriff serve her husband in the Bridewell with a notice of her divorce action, filed in the circuit court. Schufeldt was sentenced to the Bridewell by Judge Uhlir in the Court of Domestic Relations after testimony had been introduced to show he had failed for seven years to support his wife and two children.

"On this day let each of us honor the hallowed memory of his mother, wearing in token thereof the floral symbol of purity. Of other blessings we may have had great stores, but of that most precious influence there was but one."—James Whitcomb Riley.

Sunday, May 10th Is Mothers' Day

This date is the official one for the floral remembrance of our mothers, a beautiful custom which has grown rapidly in the past few years.

If mother is still here send bright flowers. If mother has passed beyond wear a white flower or have white flowers in the home.

Many have taken up the idea of paying a tribute to mother's memory by sending flowers to hospitals, invalids or someone who may have been near and dear to her.

BROCKTON CLUB WOMAN FIGHTS DIVORCE SUIT

BROCKTON, May 8.—Sensational testimony is expected to be brought out today at the divorce trial before Judge Morton of Frank E. Morey against his wife, who is a leading member of the Brockton Women's Club.

Morey alleges statutory grounds and names Arthur Pettengill, one of the best known young men about town.

Special Officers John H. Turner and George Braley, who said they had been employed by Morey, testified to seeing Mrs. Morey go into a store managed by Pettengill on several occasions late at night and that the lights would be turned out.

Co-Eds Lose Their Right to Be Kissed, by Principals' Decree

CHICAGO, May 8.—"I kiss, I have kissed"—principal parts of the verb "kiss" yesterday.

"I kiss, I kist, I have kist"—principal parts of the verb "kiss" today.

That's what the Chicago Principals' Club did to a poor lonesome little verb while the attention of the nation was centred upon developments in Mexico City. The verb was found today in a pitiful condition. It now lies at the hospital for mutilated language in a serious condition.

"I lost my 'ed,' the creature kept repeating over and over again. 'I lost my 'ed. I don't remember anything after that."

Investigation brought the information that the Chicago Principals' Club had met and adopted circular No. 23 of the simplified spelling board. This does away with the final "e" in words like "carve" and "engine." It substituted "i" and "d" for the final "ed" in words like "aimed" and "klist."

HOLD SUSPECT IN AUTO CHASE ON 2 CHARGES

Steven W. Harmeth of No. 77 Saxton street, Dorchester, the eighteen-year-old "Gas Meter Thief" arrested by the police of Somerville after an auto chase yesterday, today faced four charges in the Somerville Court. A charge of the larceny of $160 from the Cambridge Gas Light Company was filed after he pleaded guilty. A charge of carrying a revolver, upon his plea of not guilty, was not pressed. On the charge of breaking and entering and larceny from the house of James Kemp of a loaded revolver, he was held in $1,000 after pleading guilty. On a further charge of having burglar tools, he pleaded guilty and was held in $1,000.

Redmond Denies Ulster Change in Home Rule Bill

LONDON, May 8.—John Redmond, leader of the Irish Nationalists in the House of Commons, today in a statement concerning reports published recently that negotiations had been renewed with reference to further concessions for Ulster, declares that those reports "are, according to my information, entirely incorrect.

"The position of the Irish party with reference to concessions," the statement of Mr. Redmond continues, "has undergone no change since the second reading of the Home Rule bill will be proceeded with rapidly and that it will receive its third reading and be sen tto the House of Lords in its present shape certainly before the Whitsuntide recess."

T. R. SAILS FOR HOME; WILL NOT RUN THIS FALL

By JOHN B. PRATT,
Staff Correspondent of the American Sent to Meet Colonel Roosevelt.

PARIS, Brazil, May 8.—Colonel Roosevelt has sailed for New York on the steamship Alden, of the Booth line.

The Colonel is weak still after his arduous exploration through the jungle, but he says he hopes the voyage home will restore his health. He has been invited to lecture before the Royal Geographical Society in London on "Putting the Duvida River on the Map," a feat which he considers a triumph.

He says the hardships of the Duvida trip nearly cost his life by starvation, and he is thankful for his escape.

The Colonel insists he will not mix in politics until after his son Kermit marries Miss Willard in Madrid next month, then he will be active in the Fall campaign.

When told specifically that his friends were talking of him enthusiastically as a candidate for Governor of New York or as United States Senator from that State, Colonel Roosevelt said, snapping those jaws:

"I shall not be a candidate for anything this Fall."

As for his possible candidacy for the Presidency in 1916 the Colonel says he is not thinking of that yet. He cannot say whether he will be a candidate again, but if he should run it must be on a Progressive ticket, for he cannot "swallow the Republican hosses."

Again today the Colonel expressed surprise that the situation in Mexico has not been cleared up. It is an open secret that he considers President Wilson to be too hesitating.

NOTED SCIENTISTS BACK ROOSEVELT IN RIVER DISCOVERY

NEW YORK, May 8.—American scientists and geographers have rallied staunchly around Colonel Theodore Roosevelt in defending him against the suggestions cabled from London that the river explored by him was not an unknown river but a tributary of the Tamazon.

"Colonel Roosevelt is not a fool scientist," declares Cyrus C. Adams, editor of the Bulletin of the American Geographical Society. "He is a careful student and cautious contributor to science and especially that he is a most careful geographer.

"It is absurd to say that he has mistaken the Tapajos river for the Madeira, inasmuch as the Aanajos flows into the Amazon far below the Madeira, inasmuch as the Tapajos very well known, and if he had traveled down that river he would have known it well."

Archibald D. Russell, secretary of the American Geographical Society, expresses his confidence in the clear and accurate scientific judgment of Colonel Roosevelt. The theory cabled from London that the Roosevelt party journeyed down the Tapajos river instead of the Madeira was characterized as ludicrous by Dr. Frank M. Chapman, curator of ornithology of the American Museum of Natural History.

James Keeley Buys 2 Chicago Newspapers

CHICAGO, May 8.—The Record-Herald and the Inter-Ocean have become the property of James Keeley, general manager of the Chicago Tribune, who will consolidate and publish the newspapers as one. W. W. Chapin, formerly publisher of the San Francisco Call, will be business manager.

The Inter-Ocean was first sold, for $50,000, to George W. Hinman, its former owner, who immediately resold it to Mr. Keeley. At the same time Mr. Keeley purchased the Record-Herald. The price paid by Mr. Keeley has not yet been made public. The new management will take charge of the papers next Monday.

Young Rockefeller Escapes Pneumonia

NEW YORK, May 8.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has been very ill with a heavy cold that at times threatened to be pneumonia, it was learned at Pocantico Hills today. It is said he is improving and expects to be able to return to business in New York, Monday.

Emperor Joseph's Cough Is Worse

VIENNA, May 8.—The bulletin issued today concerning the condition of Emperor Francis Joseph says that the catarrhal symptoms have undergone no noteworthy change. It adds that the patient's cough is somewhat worse.

MRS. ANNIE RAY, who is organizing Boston women sharpshooters for service in Mexico.

BOSTON WOMEN WOULD FIGHT AS SHARPSHOOTERS

Mrs. Annie Ray and twenty other women, have offered their services as sharpshooters, in the event of war with Mexico.

Mrs. Ray is known as "Captain of the Army against 'mashers,'" and did the work of a heroine, a year ago, on Boston Common in silencing with her shock absorbing will, the "fresh guys," who have been insulting women on Boston streets.

This announcement was made today at a war conference of the Woman's Homestead Association at No. 120 Boylston street.

Mrs. Ray said, "We want to show the public that the women of this Commonwealth have something to do with the great questions of the day. We are prepared to fight, if need be. Don't think us little flimsy things, flitting around in bobbie skirts! We really mean business. We want to prove this is a new era for womankind.

"Every night this week, the Woman's Homestead Association will hold meetings for the enlistment of women recruits. They must be young, able bodied, stand a physical examination and show some proficiency with fire arms and not be 'gun shy.'"

Boston City Club Vaudeville Show Scores a Big Hit

The annual show of the Boston City Club held in the clubhouse on Beacon street proved an immense success.

Many local hits were made, but that which attracted the most attention was the song of Dr. Arthur Gould, depicting the verbal combat between Mayor Curley and ex-Mayor Fitzgerald. He characterized the Pro Bono Publico Club as "The Lean Club."

"Under the Lid" was written by John Cutler and George R. Glidden. The cast included: Chief of Secret Service, Samuel F. Hubbard; Deputy Daniel J. Kiley; Secret Service Agent, Arthur B Beeching; Book Agent, Dr. David D. Sneeden; Judge, Judge Robert O. Harris; Detective, Carroll J. Swan; Anna Held, W. Frederick Berry.

The affair was in charge of George B. Glidden, Addison L. Winship and John B. Dore.

Diggs Not Guilty of Attacking Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Maury I. Diggs, formerly State architect, was adjudged by a jury not guilty of attacking Miss Ida Fearing, eighteen years old, last New Year's Eve.

11 COLUMBIAN SURVIVORS OFF TO THEIR HOMES

Eleven members of the crew of the steamship Columbian, brought to Boston by the Franconia after being picked up at sea in a small boat when their own craft was wrecked by fire and explosion, will sail for their homes in Antwerp tomorrow on the steamship Kroonland, from New York. They left Boston today.

Steward Wedekind, who is suffering from severe burns and exhaustion, is being treated at the Carney Hospital. Wireless Operator Drohan has been assigned to the steamer Winifredian as an extra operator. His work will be light and he will be able to recover from his memorable adventure.

The body of Chief Steward Mathews, which was also brought to this port on the Franconia, will be shipped to his home in Philadelphia today.

The cause of the fire which destroyed the Columbian still remains a mystery. None of the rescued crew are able to give any solution.

The stories told by the men are so conflicting that Captain Miller and Purser C. T. Spedding could not gather any definite report of just what happened. Although the Columbian carried a mixed cargo, no one seems to know what would have caused the explosions and cause the flames to spread so rapidly. Some claimed that it was a boiler explosion and others contend that it was ammunition.

Even the place where the fire originated is not known. One sailor said it started in a pile of wicker baskets carried on the shelter deck.

The men have the highest praise for treatment they received when they were taken aboard the Franconia, and expressed thanks to the passengers who provided them with clothing and raised a purse which allows each man $30.

Many of the men are still dazed by the awful experience. A large majority of them have disfiguring burns on face and hands and all are wearing bandages of some kind.

The Cream of America's Finest Clothing

FAMOUS BRANDS OF MEN'S & YOUNG MEN'S

Good Clothes on Credit

We buy from any good house—are not confined to a few brands.

We select the most worthy garments that the big leading makers of the entire country have to offer.

For this reason we sell better clothes and a greater variety than anyone else.

These famous brands are made by the largest, greatest and best high-grade clothing manufacturers of national prominence.

They sell us the same suits they sell to the best cash stores in this city and throughout the United States, with the understanding that we will not advertise these well-known cash store brands or charge any more or less than the regular cash store prices. Nothing but the labels of these well-known brands, the same as you will find in the cash stores, are ever attached to any goods sold in our store—or any marks of identification other than what you find in the cash stores.

Most excellent clothes for men, for which you pay us only cash store prices without interest or any other added extra expense.

$18.50 $20 $22.50 $25

Our easy terms—A salary need no longer prevent you from wearing the best and most stylish clothing. You can dress well on a moderate income and pay for your clothes while wearing them and earning the money.

ONLY A LITTLE A WEEK TO PAY

It is no longer necessary to have the ready cash to open a credit account, if you trade at Boyle Bros.

You are not obliged to make a Big Payment Down when you buy your clothing or other goods on credit from Boyle Bros.

Boyle Bros.' Customers have the advantage over others of getting their clothing, if they so desire, without paying Any Money Down. The lack of money no longer compels you to wait until you have saved up a big amount to pay down.

All you have to pay Boyle Bros. is a little each week after you get your clothing. No person can buy goods for cash for less than those who buy here for No Money Down, which is good for anything and everything in our store.

OTHER CREDITABLE CLOTHES

Many other excellent clothes for men in our store from $5.00 to $10.00 less than the above highly advertised national brands. These prices are lower than the usual cash stores charge, as, being manufacturers, we make most of these clothes and save all extra profits for our customers. By buying our Creditable Clothes you get the greatest value there is in Boston. You will get styles that are up to the minute, that have the goods behind them with the wearing qualities, at prices that make them honest value.

$7.50 $9.50 $12.50 $15.50

We guarantee the values at any price you pay. Entire satisfaction in these medium priced suits or your money back.

You will find union-made labels on our clothing and the labels of the best well-known manufacturers of national fame, the same as you find in the cash stores. No other labels are ever attached to any goods sold in our store or any other marks of identification other than what you find in the best cash stores.

No big deposits to pay—No interest—You pay not one cent more when you buy here on credit for a little a week, than if you bought for cash elsewhere.

We guarantee satisfaction in every way by giving you your money back if not pleased with anything you buy in our store.

Our no money down credit system is the simplest, most economical and by far the most convenient method of clothing yourself and family. No big, burdensome payment to make when you buy your clothes, no interest or extra expense of any kind to pay after you buy them—only a "little each week" to pay on the regular cash price and you can dress as well as the "best dressed."

Generous Treatment—The liberality of our terms for payment, the generous treatment we show our customers, and the quality and price of our clothing have never been equalled in this city.

Our splendid method of conducting the credit business assures every customer the most courteous and considerate treatment at all times.

NEWSBOYS PLAN BIG BENEFIT FOR GOLD'S FAMILY

The newsboys of Boston are wholeheartedly at work today on plans for a monster benefit for the family of Louis Gold, the crippled newsboy who was shot down at his post by a woman in a street fight a week ago.

A life of courageous and unselfish service ended with Louis Gold's death. His brave heart had upborne him through terrible illnesses. He had suffered fourteen operations for blood poison on his leg. And yet at the time of his death he was working sixteen hours a day—from eight in the morning till midnight—and he earned about $5 a day. He was practically the sole support of a family of nine.

His mother is a hard-working woman. His father, an invalid, is unable to help in supporting the family. Of his three brothers, the oldest is eight years old. His four sisters gave some help. The eldest was nineteen.

Louis' funeral yesterday saw the whole city grieving. Three thousand newsboys marched in line from Park square to the North station, escorting his body. With them went business men, attorneys, leaders in the city's life. Bystanders, seeing the procession, asked: "What is it?" When the answer came, "The funeral of Louis Gold," they, too, fell in line. For the boy was a well-known figure.

The newspapers have united in helping benefit plans. The committee in charge of preparations includes "Happy" Rubinovitch, Louis Block, Sam Sickel, Tom Mulkern, Nathan Sodekson, Benjamin Robrish, Eddie Keavin, Joe Woodman, Dannie Mulkern and Charlie Brickel.

Flirt Sent Back to His German Home

CHICAGO, May 8.—"Let me go, judge, and I'll return to Germany," pleaded Martin Mayer when he was arraigned before Municipal Judge Stewart in the Criminal Court Building on a charge of disorderly conduct. He had been arrested by Policewoman Alice Clement, who accused him of attempting to flirt with her. "I'll put you under peace bonds and order you to return to Germany at once," replied the judge.

Mother Dares Death in Fire; Saves Babes

SANTA ROSA, May 8.—Mrs. Henry Holst, wife of a local expressman, is the heroine of Santa Rosa. The Holst residence on the outskirts of town took fire. Mrs. Holst rushed through the flames and rescued her sleeping infant. Then recollecting that her fifteen-months-old daughter was asleep in bed she again dashed into the burning structure and rescued the second child. Mother and children were unharmed. The residence was destroyed.

Illinois Wins in Six State Debate

MADISON, Wis., May 8.—Taking for his topic "The Hope of Democracy," A. V. Essington, representing Illinois, won first place in the Northern oratorical contest here. Howard William Jones of Wisconsin, with "A Plea for More Poets," won second place, and Paul Blanchard of Michigan, third, with a subject entitled "Myself." Iowa, Minnesota and Oberlin were represented.

Chinese Is Held Up by Bogus Policeman

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Quong Dong, of No. 1038 Grant avenue, a Chinese merchant, was held up and robbed of a small amount of money by a bandit who posed as a policeman. Quong Dong was passing along Washington street, near Sansome, when he was accosted by the pretended policeman, who showed him a star and then searched him.

Girl Hurt by Paving Blocks.

Miss Gertrude Delaney of No. 49 Newhall street, Lynn, was slightly hurt when her right leg was caught under paving blocks which toppled from a pile as she was walking on Exchange street, Lynn.

WIFE NO. 2 WATCHING HERSEY SUIT FOR LOST LOVE OF SPOUSE NO. 1

Elmer P. Hersey and his second bride. He is suing William S. Nelson, alleging alienation of the affections of Mrs. Hersey, No. 1.

Trial of the $20,000 suit in which Elmer P. Hersey, an employe of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, charges William S. Nelson of No. 224 Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, with breaking up his home, was resumed today in the Superior Court. Witnesses testified for Hersey that Mrs. Hersey and the defendant were seen together in Somerville and Boston.

Hersey secured a divorce from Mrs. Bertella Harney the latter part of last year and married Miss Engla Matson on April 18, 1914, whom he had known for ten years.

Under cross-examination, Hersey admitted he took Miss Dolly Steele to theatres as often as once a week and that he accompanied her to Nantasket Beach, Salem Willows and Revere Beach, before he was divorced. Miss Steele was a nurse at his grandmother's home for a number of years.

He denied that he asked his first wife to marry him again, when being cross-examined by Attorney Baker. He also denied he told his wife that it was all right for her to live with him again, although they were divorced, and that marriage meant only a piece of paper, or that any girl had threatened to blow his brains out if he married his first wife again.

Hersey testified that he threw his pay envelope into his wife's lap and when he received an increase in salary he gave her $15 a week out of $16.50.

Mrs. Hersey No. 2 was in the court room during the proceedings. Mrs. Hersey No. 1, was absent. So was Nelson, the defendant.

Poet Praises Women in Verses to Mayor

NEW YORK, May 8.—Mayor Mitchel's address to the suffrage meeting Saturday evening. May 2, has moved some one to poetry. He has received the following, entitled "A Toast":

Here's to the woman of days gone by
(May we meet her kind above)
The woman for whom a man would die.

The woman who ruled by love;
Who didn't harangue and who didn't parade,
In whose home it was sweet to dwell;
Who believed in raising children
And not in raising ——!

Boston Baby Death Rate Is Decreased

The news that seventy-two fewer baby deaths have occurred during the first four months of 1914 than for the corresponding period last year was received with rejoicing by the Milk and Baby Hygiene Association. "The reduction in deaths under two years is even more satisfactory," said George R. Bedinger, director of the association, "Boston deaths under two years in the first three months of 1914 numbered 558, as against 682 for the corresponding quarter last year."

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM ENID BELL STAGE BEAUTY

LONDON, May 8.—Theatrical London will be surprised very soon when the suit Bell vs. Bell is heard before Sir Samuel Evans, presiding judge in the Divorce Court.

David W. Bell, husband of one of London's most popular actresses, Miss Enid Bell, famous for her striking beauty and fascinating figure, asks divorce, alleging that she has misconducted herself with Melville E. Gideon, an American ragtime composer.

Miss Bell at the moment is playing the leading part in "A Pair of Silk Stockings" at the Criterion Theatre—a distinctly "Blue" farce in which she is called on to put herself in a position not unlike that in which she finds herself in private life.

For several weeks gossip mongers have been busy circulating whispered rumors that the Bells were very much out of tune, but this is the first authentic announcement of the divorce suit.

According to the husband, David Wellesley Bell, Lillian Enid Addleshaw Bell has frequently forgotten her marriage vows at times and places known to the petitioner.

Both the actress and Gideon deny the charges indignantly and have entered notice to that effect. Gideon has adopted the unusual and rather unaillant course of applying to be disconnected from the suit on the grounds that he is an American citizen and that therefore the English Courts have no jurisdiction in his case.

DANDRUFF SOON RUINS THE HAIR

Makes It Lifeless, Dull, Dry, Brittle and Thin.

Girls, if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, fluffy, lustrous, soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

PRISCILLA MAY HAS CLEVER ROLE IN PLAY

SMART SET TO ATTEND DANCE THIS EVENING IN THE CADET ARMORY

Among the many attractive girls to appear in the Peace Play May 15 and 16, in Copley Hall, is Miss Priscilla May, daughter of Mrs. M. Standard May, of No. 1514 Beacon street, a debutante of the 1914 Sewing Circle. She will appear in the role of a dryad opposite H. E. Marshall Hall, as the shepherd, in the one-act pantomime, which introduces the play.

The pantomime, adapted and coached by Miss Marie Ware Laughton, is a delightful fantasy in which the dryads, in a drowsing growth of green, with leaves in her hair and wearing bands of flowers, emerges from a tree and dances before the shephard whose heart is finally won Miss May is an exceedingly graceful dancer and her role promises to prove an interesting feature of the show.

Flirting in Lynn Costs Four $10 Each

The Lynn police, in a crusade to stop flirting on the street corners, had made seventeen arrests. Four men were fined $10 each in the Lynn court today. They were Budda Marmath, Senili Vailli, Solomon Canneth and Settino Declucu. Ida Till was the only girl to testify against them.

Woman Snips Hair; Saves Baby's Life

AMESBURY, May 8.—Sarah Feldman, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feldman of Hamilton court, was nearly strangled by her mother's hair which became wound around her neck while both were asleep.

Mrs. Feldman was awakened by a tug at her hair, she found the baby entangled in the hair in such a way that her breath was shut off and she promptly snipped the braids.

$139,560,334 Navy Bill Is Passed

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The annual naval appropriation bill, carrying $139,560,334 was passed by the House without a roll call. The building program includes two battleships, one to be built in some government navy yard; six torpedo boat destroyers, one sea-going torpedo boat, three coast defence submarine torpedo boats, to be constructed on the Pacific coast and four submarines.

LOVE CHARGES STIR SCHUMANN HEINK TO LAUGH

CINCINNATI, May 8.—"I, infatuated with any man—I, a mother of eight and a grandmother to six—I in love with a boy? Ach himmel," exclaimed Mme. Schumann Heink, the noted songstress, as she poised for a moment between laughter and tears until her sense of humor came to her rescue.

She went on to explain how every one who knows her, she is sure, understood how very ridiculous is the charge brought in the Divorce Court by her husband in private life, William Rapp, Jr., that she was infatuated with a Paterson, N. J., policeman, whom her son Henry had introduced to her with the statement that the young New Jersey arm of the law had a wonderful voice.

The policeman is one of Madame's protegees. He is attending the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor at her expense and after he is graduated he will be trained for the concert stage, she said today. Mme. Schumann Heink is living apart from her husband.

"Of course I brought him to Chicago," said Schuman Heink, "and why not? I have a small palace in Chicago. This boy is a protege of mine. He comes to Chicago. I invite him out. What is more natural? But he is only one of many young singers I am able to help."

$12 Week More Than 'Rich Farmer' Can Pay

CHICAGO, May 8.—Robert Schufeldt, "wealthy Canadian farmer," in jail for failure to pay his Chicago wife $12 a week, explained that the business of being a "wealthy Canadian farmer" is not profitable. "I simply haven't got the money," he said. "They say I'm rich because I have a farm—mortgaged. And I haven't been able to get a crop off it in two years. My wife left me seven years ago because she didn't like that 'rich Canadian farm,' and I had to sell furniture to buy her ticket to Chicago."

CARDINALS TAKE HOTEL SUITES IN VISIT TO ROME

ROME, May 8.—The exodus of fashionable Americans has begun, but beginning this week the pieces of those who have left will be taken by the numerous suites which will escort to Rome the three American cardinals.

Cardinal O'Connell has already retained for himself and party prelates of the Boston diocese the whole first floor of the Hotel de Russie, while Cardinal Farley goes, as usual, to the Hotel Grand. Cardinal Gibbons, who is known to have no sympathy with large hotels, will be the guest of Father Harzog at the quaint old monastery of Via Delle Quattro at Fontane.

Second Arrest in $2,522 Larceny Case

20,000 MEXICANS MENACE FUNSTON

HUERTA'S BIG ARMY NEARING VERA CRUZ

Two code dispatches from Mexico precipitated the present tense situation. The first, from General Funston, is believed to have asked for 50,000 men. It resulted in a lengthy midnight conference of army heads, and today the Army and Navy Departments were extremely active.

General Funston's situation is admittedly grave. He has no adequate equipment of field artillery, and although the guns of the battleships would help him defend Vera Cruz proper, a comparatively small force of Mexicans, by a determined assault, could capture the water works at El Tejar. With the water cut off, Vera Cruz would be in distress within six hours.

The second development that increased anxiety here was the announcement that Esteva Ruiz, acting minister of foreign relations, has complained to the A, B, C mediators that American troops are landing at Vera Cruz, thus breaking the armistice. The mediators promised to make representations to President Wilson. The Mexican Foreign Office thereupon issued a statement thanking the mediators for their attitude. Secretary Bryan, a few minutes later, admitted that the mediators have complained against our further operations at Vera Cruz.

REPLY PROMISED BY BRYAN.

"A reply to the note will be made," the Secretary of State promised. But the nature of the reply was not made known.

The critical situation crystallized when the Cabinet met today. The Cabinet and President Wilson were face to face with the problem of choosing between two courses. On the one hand, the mediators protest against landing troops at Vera Cruz, or even against further fortification of that city. On the other hand, General Funston and Admiral Badger consider the situation at Vera Cruz so serious that they ask reinforcements.

Secretary of State Bryan was for a cessation of activity at Vera Cruz. Secretary of War Garrison and Secretary of the Navy Daniels urged that adequate forces be established in the city to make the waterworks and the city itself secure against attack.

MESSAGE SPEAKS FOR ITSELF.

Secretary Garrison presented Funston's message to the Cabinet and let it speak for itself. It is known that high officials of the War and Navy Department favor establishing a strong force either at Vera Cruz or aboard transports within striking distance.

Before going to the Cabinet meeting, Secretary Garrison consulted with Major-General Wotherspoon, chief of staff, and Brigadier-General Carroll A. Devol of the quartermaster-general's department.

BELL TO COMMAND 9 REGIMENTS.

In case of invasion from the Texas boundary is ordered Major-General Franklin Bell will be in temporary command of the force of nine regiments, to be known as the Second Division. Major-General Leonard Wood would succeed him immediately after the invasion began. General Bell will shortly be on the border, organizing the troops so as to be ready to strike if it becomes necessary.

The Navy Department is not behind hand in preparations. Options have been secured on transports at every Gulf port and on the Atlantic. Both Secretary Daniels and Secretary Garrison refused to discuss the situation before they went to the Cabinet meeting.

of thirty miles of the city number from 12,000 to 15,000. Navarete is heading the remainder of his men at Jalapa to construct fortifications.

Rafael Hornasitas, a Spaniard who has just arrived from Mexico City said today:

HUERTA FORTIFYING BASE.

"Huerta has selected Jalapa as the base of advance against Americans. General Navarette has fortified the city and also Cerro Gordo, where the Mexicans were defeated by the Americans in 1846." Other refugees declare that Huerta is assembling the greatest and most formidable force he has gathered since the Orozco revolt.

Every outpost was notified today to be on the lookout for Private Parks of the Twenty-eighth Infantry, who disappeared while he was riding a horse belonging to Lieutenant-Colonel E. F. Taggart, near the edge of the American lines. There was considerable anxiety here today lest he had ridden into the Mexican lines and was being held a prisoner. Colonel Taggart has sent a message to General Maas inquiring for Parks and requesting his release if a captive of the Mexicans.

DEMAND RELEASE OF BRITON.

British Consul Hutchison has demanded of General Maas that he release George H. Coxon, assistant manager of the Vera Cruz Electric Light & Power Company. Coxon was seized at Tejera while he was returning from Mexico City, and immediately taken to General Maas' headquarters at Paso Del Macho. The first news of his plight came to Colonel Cornman of the American forces, and he notified Mr. Hutchison. According to the reports that have reached here Coxon was insolent to the Mexican army officers and they seized him to avenge their injured dignity. Colonel Sarrachcha is said to have expressed his willingness to shoot Coxon "for a nickel."

MONTANA WITH VERA CRUZ DEAD REACHES NEW YORK SUNDAY

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The armored cruiser Montana, carrying the Vera Cruz dead, is expected to reach New York at 1 p. m. Sunday. The bodies will be taken ashore and at 3 o'clock Monday will be taken to the City Hall under escort of troops and sailors. Shortly thereafter they will be taken to the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

These plans were perfected by Secretary of the Navy Daniels today. The Mayflower, with Secretary Daniels and his aides, will leave the Washington Navy Yard at 12 o'clock tonight for New York. It is planned by Captain McDougall to meet the Montana off the Chesapeake Capes. The two vessels will go into New York Harbor together.

THOMPSON, WILSON AND HUNT SAFE AT MEXICO CITY

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Consul Canada of Vera Cruz today advised the State Department that he had been notified by the Brazilian ambassador at Mexico City of the safe arrival of the refugee train at Cordoba.

Admiral Badger will send the Esperanza to meet the train at Puerto Mexico and to take the refugees to New Orleans. E. W. Thompson, Burton Wilson and H. Starr Hunt are safe, according to a dispatch received at the State Department from the Brazilian ambassador at Mexico City today.

SALTILLO CUT OFF FROM RELIEF BY VILLA'S REGIMENT

TORREON, Mex., May 8.—General Francisco Villa reported today from Hipolito that the capture of Saltillo has been made certain by the destruction of a large section of the railroad track between Saltillo and San Luis Potosi. It will be impossible to reinforce the Federal garrison in Saltillo. General Eulalio Gutierrez and General Cerro Torres, with 3,500 Constitutionalists, have been wrecking the railroad between these two cities. General Carranza and the members of the Constitutionalist government are expected here today, having left the main line of the National Railway to go to Parral for a public reception. The Constitutionalist government is to be moved to Saltillo when that city is captured.

ARMY OF 20,000 NOW CONFRONTS FUNSTON

By HARRY R. DUNN.
Special Staff Correspondent of the American.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—Mexican Federal forces confronting General Funston's little army have been increased to 20,000 men during the last twenty-four hours and have established a strong base at Jalapa, forty-seven miles from this city. They are under command of General Rubio Navarete, who is fortifying the town.

Reports of rapid movements by the Mexican troops, indicating that they were advancing their outposts toward Vera Cruz, caused uneasiness here today.

CLEAR GROUND FOR GUNS.

American outposts to which access has been unrestricted hitherto are now barred to Mexicans. Photographers have been forbidden to approach the places where guns are located. The jungle growth is being cleared away from the machine guns.

This precaution was taken to prevent any Mexicans creeping up under cover for asurprise attack and also to allow room for gun fire in case this becomes necessary.

Eight thousand cotton mill workers have struck against their Spanish employers at Rio Blanco, near Puebla, and have joined General Navarete's army. These workers were armed in 1911 by Francesco I. Madero that they might defend themselves from attacks by the Zapataistas. They have taken their arms and ammunition with them to Jalapa and have materially strengthened the Federal forces. Many of them have already seen service in the army.

Refugees arriving here estimate that the soldiers advanced toward Vera Cruz and now within a radius

SULPHUR DRIES UP ECZEMA AND STOPS ITCHING

This Old-Time Skin Healer Is Used Just Like Any Cold Cream.

With the first application of bold-sulphur cream the angry itching attending any eczema eruption ceases and its remarkable healing powers begin. Sulphur, says a renowned dermatologist, just common bold sulphur, made into a thick cream will soothe and heal the skin when irritated and broken out with Eczema or any form of eruption. The moment it is applied all itching ceases, and after two or three applications the Eczema disappears, leaving the skin clear and smooth.

He tells Eczema sufferers to get from any good pharmacy an ounce of bold-sulphur cream and apply it to the irritated, inflamed skin, the same as you would any cold cream.

For many years this soothing, healing sulphur has occupied a secure position in the treatment of cutaneous affections by reason of its parasite-destroying property. It is not only parasiticidal, but also antipruritic, antiseptic and remarkably healing in all irritable and inflammatory conditions of the skin. While not always establishing a permanent cure it never fails to instantly subdue the irritation and heal the Eczema right up, and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin. How To Drive Out All Blood Impurities

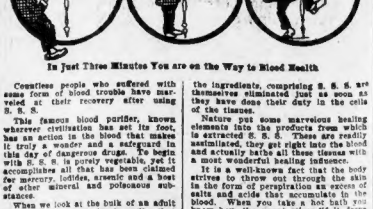
The Searching Effect of a Most Remarkable Remedy. It's Power For Health Unfolds the Most Amazing Facts



In Just Three Minutes You are on the Way to Blood Health

Countless people who suffered with some form of blood trouble have received at their recovery after using S. S. S.

This famous blood purifier, known wherever civilization has set its foot, has an action in the blood that makes it truly a wonder and a safeguard in this day of dangerous drugs. To begin with S. S. S. is purely vegetable, yet it accomplishes all that has been claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic and a host of other mineral and poisonous substances.

When we look at the bulk of an adult human body it is amazing to realize that in its many arteries and network of capillaries there is no circulation a volume of blood equal to only three quarts.

Now, this will help us to realize how quickly we may reach and effectively purify the blood supply with even a small quantity of S. S. S.

In twenty seconds a drop of blood traverses the entire system and the whole volume of blood in the body has completed its journey throughout the body in an average of three minutes. This shows the tremendous activity of S. S. S., for it is a perfectly assimilable product, becomes a part of the blood plasma as quickly as nourishing food and begins its antidotal activity just as soon as it enters the blood.

A given part of the blood is in the capillaries but one and a half seconds but in this limited time the oxygen and nutritive matter are given to the tissues along with the purifying activity of S. S. S. And no matter how severely the blood has become impregnated with some form of impurity you may be sure S. S. S. will drive it out. Non is this fact of more importance than to know that in thus ridding the blood of disease the ingredients, comprising S. S. S. are themselves eliminated just as soon as they have done their duty in the cells of the tissues.

Nature has put some marvelous healing elements into the products from which is extracted S. S. S. These are readily assimilated, they get right into the blood and actually bathe all these tissues with a most wonderful healing influence.

It is a well-known fact that the body strives to throw out through the skin in the form of perspiration an excess of salts and acids that accumulate in the blood. When you take a hot bath you know how the sweat stings if it drops into the eyes. This same effect goes on at various different spots on the skin and if not given assistance results in eczema, salt rheum, terrible itching and a general plague of the skin. Now, the action of S. S. S. is just as if you were continually perspiring only there is no visible evidence of the fact. This remedy enters the blood through the capillaries and in a few seconds is hard at work. It follows the law of circulation by which having served its purpose, it seeks an outlet and at once is caught in the myriad of small blood vessels that reach the skin pores all over the body.

A wonderful work is now going on; instead of these poisons collecting in the form of eczema and irritation, as it seems, they dry up and new blood elements, made possible by S. S. S. form new skin and scurfiness are completely banished. It is remarkable how quickly this result. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any druggist.

Don't accept a substitute. Beware of those "just as good" impositions. And if your blood is in such condition that you would like the personal opinion of an authority, write to the Medical Dept. The Swift Specific Co., 622 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

As you can see by the letter, the B. Light Company is going out of business. They wanted to dispose of their big wholesale stock in one lump—and for cash. We had the cash and the ability to handle the whole stock—and it didn't take long to close the deal when the price had been shaved down low enough to suit us.

Practically every model, material and color the season has approved is here—English or conservative models, in three button styles or two button styles with patch pockets and blunt edges—pencil stripes, checks, black and white effects, tartan checks—enough to give ample opportunity to satisfy personal preferences.

FUNSTON'S POSITION AT VERA CRUZ CRITICAL IF FEDERALS PRESS ATTACK

ARMY BOARD TO RUSH CANNON AND CAVALRY

By W. N. TAFT.

Staff Correspondent of the American at the White House.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Mediation occupied second place in the minds of official Washington today. A new crisis of sudden development in the Mexican situation occupied the attention of President Wilson and his advisers.

Following a long dispatch from General Funston at Vera Cruz, which contained such important news as to cause Secretary of War Garrison to summon a hasty war council at the War Department, a cipher message was received from Admiral Badger at the Navy Department. Strict secrecy was maintained at both departments relative to the latest developments and Secretary Garrison after his conference with the entire general staff would state only that no further orders to the army had been issued.

GERMAN SHIPS OFF VERA CRUZ.

It was learned unofficially, however, that the report of Admiral Badger stated that two German ships are off the Vera Cruz harbor with munitions of war for General Huerta, and asked for instructions as to what to do.

It is also rumored that advices have reached the State Department and White House that a crisis is impending in Mexico City. Today's Cabinet meeting and a conference between President Wilson and Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the Charge d'Affaires, just returned from Mexico City, are expected to play a large part in determining the future course of this government.

The continued absence of information concerning Vice-Consul John R. Silliman at Saltillo, believed to have been taken prisoner by the Mexican Federals, added to the seriousness of the situation. One high government official summed up the state of affairs with this remark:

"WAR UNLESS SILLIMAN IS FOUND."

"There is going to be war in Mexico unless Silliman is found soon."

There were hints about the capitol of a march on Mexico City following the conference at the War Department, but army officers generally showed a tendency not to make any move that might embarrass the mediators. Yet no secret is made of the fact that they are prepared for any eventuality.

Among close observers of the situation and in official circles the opinion is almost general that the prospects of mediation are rapidly fading away, but everything possible being done to help the A-B-C envoys.

Funston's dispatch is understood to have warned the administration of the necessity for large reinforcements.

Badger's dispatch added another complication. It was a German ship, the Ypiranga, loaded with munitions consigned to Huerta, that precipitated the occupation of Vera Cruz by the United States naval forces. Just what will follow what is said to be the latest attempt of Huerta to arm himself against the United States is conjectural as no official action yet has been taken on Admiral Badger's dispatch, but that it will be a severe blow to mediation is taken for granted by army and navy officials who see in it a forecast of actual fighting between Huerta's forces and those of this country.

FUNSTON'S POSITION CRITICAL.

The manner in which the dispatches from Vera Cruz were received by the administration and the strict enforcement of the censorship here indicated that the situation at the Mexican port held by General Funston has grown critical.

Army officers say Funston's lack of artillery actually invites attack. They declare that Funston has not a single mobile field piece of importance and has to depend for artillery support upon the field guns sent ashore from the fleet. These guns are designed only for landing operations and not for extensive field work. His position, should the Huertaistas attack in force, would be most uncomfortable.

It is believed here he would have no difficulty in holding the town, backed by the ships' guns in the harbor, but if the Mexican Federals should capture the water works the American forces would be in a serious predicament.

It was admitted by officials at the War Department that although no mobilization orders have been issued, there is likelihood of this being done soon. It is understood that the general staff in the conference early today urged upon Secretary Garrison the necessity of sending artillery and cavalry to General Funston and organizing a large field force to enter Mexico from either Vera Cruz or Tampico.

Where Yankee marines made history. Photograph shows a scene in front of the Custom House in Vera Cruz where the action was swiftest. The Americans are shown skirmishing against Mexican snipers, under protection of goods hastily thrown about the surrounding grounds.

FUNSTON CALLS FOR ARMY OF 50,000 MEN

WASHINGTON, May 8.—By cipher message rushed from army headquarters at Vera Cruz, General Funston has called for an army of 50,000 men.

This is the reported explanation of the latest army staff conference, held by Secretary of War Garrison immediately on the receipt of dispatches from the American commander.

Orders to work night and day have been sent to Texas City, where preparations are being made to send a vast quantity of field equipment to Vera Cruz. Major-General J. Franklin Bell is today on his way to Texas City to take charge of the Second Army Division there.

The converted transport Sialilla is Galveston with supplies for Funston's men, sufficient to last a month.

Great danger to foreigners in Mexico Cy is expected if Huerta falls, and Secretary of the Navy Daniels has informed American refugees that the United States will not protect property owned by Americans in Mexico.

It was also said today that Funston's alarming message, which called about the night conference at the War Department offices, dealt with conditions in Mexico City where, according to refugees arriving at Vera Cruz, a condition of anarchy is impending.

It is expected that 50,000 reinforcements will be asked for.

It is reported that an additional brigade of 4,000 troops will be hurried at once to reinforce Funston. Four transports are at Galveston, provisioned for troops. It would be only the work of a few hours to transfer the troops from Texas City across the bay to Galveston.

Secretary Garrison said General Funston transmitted information brought by refugees from Mexico City as to conditions there. It was understood General Funston said a collapse of the Huerta regime is momentarily expected and that anarchy might ensue.

Funston's purpose was to advise the administration of the possibilities so that the American army may be fully equipped to rescue Americans and other foreigners.

Though not officially stated, high War Department officials are anxious to place fifty or sixty thousand men at Vera Cruz, or on transports near by.

ADVANCE ON CAPITAL.

They believe that, if an advance on Mexico City is ordered, it will be necessary to guard every mile of railroad as the army advances and that a large force alone will show natives the futility of resistance. A division of 10,000 men would be subject to attack, with the possibility of big losses.

A large number of blue jackets could be landed, but to hold the waterworks more infantry is needed.

At today's Cabinet meeting the entire situation will be discussed.

The ordering of Major-General Bell to Texas City was a surprise.

When Major-General Leonard Wood was relieved from duty as chief of staff a fortnight ago, it was reported that he was to take command of the second division, if called upon for Mexican service.

ENTRAIN 600 REFUGEES.

This was based on the belief that General Bell was returning from the Philippines in a leisurely way and would take a vacation before returning to active service. But orders were changed. General Wood is commander of the eastern department with headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y.

Six more refugees—most of them Americans—have been entrained at Mexico City, and will reach Puerto today. All will embark for New Orleans. The German steamer Ypiranga has reached Mobile, Ala., with 200 refugees aboard. A steamer has been sent to Yucatan and other Mexican ports to pick up refugees.

FEAR TROUBLE IN VERA CRUZ.

Although Mazatlan has been captured by the rebels after long fighting, the battle is said to be still raging along the water front.

United States Senator Chamberlain is fighting for the passage of his resolution authorizing the President to recruit the army to its full fighting strength.

Further outbreaks are feared in Vera Cruz.

Charge O'Shaughnessy has informed Bryan that he believes a compromise president and cabinet in Mexico is a feasible solution of the trouble.

General Villa pleads for the lifting of the embargo on arms as the quickest way of pacifying Mexico.

Governor Colquitt has ordered the State troops withdrawn from the border.

Praises This Remedy for Lung Trouble

Many people are led to believe that Lung Trouble is a disease which cannot be conquered. This is wrong, as many have fully recovered their health. A change of climate has helped some, but many more have been restored to health by breathing the fresh air, eating well cooked, wholesome food, being temperate in their habits and adding the tonic qualities of Eckman's Alterative, a medicine for Throat and Lung Troubles. Investigate this case:—

Bowling Green, Ky., R. No. 4.

"Gentlemen:—The spring of 1906 I had a severe cough for six months. I tried all the medicine that any doctors recommended to me, but no results came for the better. I had night sweats, and would wake and spit until I got so weak I could hardly do anything. Well, at last, Jonas Dewing, of Glasgow Junction, recommended that I try your medicine. In one week's time there was quite an improvement in my condition, and after I had taken several bottles I felt, as I thought, entirely well. I firmly believe that Eckman's Alterative will relieve any case of lung trouble if taken before the last stage."

(Affidavit) A. C. BETTERSWORTH.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for Bronchial Affections, Coughs, Colds, Grippe, Bronchial Asthma, Malaria, Chills and to upbuild the system. Contains no opium, morphine or habit-forming drugs. Sold by leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.—ADVERTISEMENT.

MEXICO CITY RESIDENTS READY TO FLOCK TO PROTECTION OF U. S. FLAG

FEAR MASSACRE IF VILLA TAKES CAPITAL

By THOMAS P. COATES.
Special Staff Correspondent of the American.

VERA CRUZ, May 8—Many of the hundreds of Mexican refugees who have arrived here within twenty-four hours from Mexico City believe that a week will see the greater part of the population of the capital in flight for this city

Should Emiliano Zapata or General Francisco Villa make an attack upon the city the populace, fearing a reign of massacres and pillage upon the fall of the capital, would seek the protection of the United States flag.

Under these circumstances the United States lines here would have to be extended as the city is congested now, and there is room only for a few thousand more fugitives

ONLY SAFE CITY LEFT.

As it is now Vera Cruz is the only city in Mexico where life and property are both safe. Realising this well-to-do families are packing up to move here with as many of their portable belongings as they can carry.

The problem of furnishing sustenance for such a multitude would tax the ingenuity of the United States military authorities. Already the water system is being run at the maximum of its output and the supply is barely sufficient to meet the needs of the city. Fresh fruit and vegetables are almost unknown and the health authorities fear that a meat diet in the tropical climate will result in much sickness.

United States Consul W. W. Canada wants to get all the American women and children out of the city at the earliest moment owing to the possibility of a state of grave danger if the rebels attack Mexico City. The order to get American refugees away from Mexico is being enforced with strictness

AVIATOR'S CLOSE CALL.

Lieutenant Bellinger, who has taken the lead in the aerial scout duty since the Americans occupied Vera Cruz, had a narrow escape from death or capture while making a flight with Ensign Stolz south of the city. A crank pin of Bellinger's hydroplane broke, but repairs were made quickly and the aviator reported to General Funston today that he is ready to continue his work.

La Union, the leading newspaper here, today protested against the employment of Mexican policemen in Vera Cruz. It asserted that many of these who have been appointed to serve were members of the old force who were "guilty of murder and robbery in compliance with the mandates of Huerta." It concludes:

"Please have the United States soldiers continue their policing."

The newspapers also publishes a call to all Mexicans to meet at the Olympic Theatre and adopt resolutions demanding the resignation of Huerta and asking the United States to prevent the dictator's escape.

The court martial to try "snipers" and other Mexicans accused of various crimes will begin its sessions on May 11. Its membership is announced as follows: Lieutenant-Colonel T. W. Moore, Seventh Infantry; Major J. D. Leitch, Twenty-eighth Infantry; Major T. C. Murphy, Nineteenth Infantry and Captain Consant Cordier, Fourth artillery.

"dead wood," officers of exaggerated rank and unfit material

The War Department official reports that he finds at the present time the militia is carrying a large number of excess officers, which he enumerates as follows: One major, quartermaster's department, surplus; four lieutenant-colonels, inspector-general's department, surplus; one lieutenant-colonel, inspector-general's department, in lieu of a major; four captains, pay department, surplus; six captains, ordnance department, surplus, one first lieutenant, ordnance department, surplus; one major, engineers' corps, surplus, one captain engineers' corps, surplus.

"The above list," the letter recites, "in additional to the brigade headquarters specially authorized, and to the following specially authorized officers: One colonel in lieu of lieutenant-colonel, inspector-general's department, one brigadier-general, in lieu of lieutenant-colonel, judge advocate general's department; one brigadier-general, in lieu of a colonel in subsistence department; one colonel, in lieu of a major, in the department one colonel in lieu of a lieutenant-colonel, in ordnance department, one colonel, in lieu of a lieutenant-colonel, in medical corps."

The final paragraph of the letter recites:

ENVOYS SAY U. S. IS BREAKING ARMISTICE

MEXICO CITY, May 8—Esteva Ruiz, acting Minister of Foreign Relations, has complaints to the South American mediators that American troops were landing in Vera Cruz and other military preparations were in progress there, thus breaking the armistice

In reply the South American mediators have wired that they will make representations regarding the matter to President Wilson.

The Foreign Office has issued a statement thanking the mediators. It says:

"The Mexican Government, in view of the mediators' attitude in the cases of the Carranzista refusal to suspend hostilities and the new landing of American troops and war material in Vera Cruz, is much obliged for the prudence, impartiality and good will of the mediators."

WASHINGTON, May 8—Secretary Bryan admitted today that this government had received a note from the South American mediators in which complaint is made by the Huerta Government that American operations at Vera Cruz are in violation of the armistice. A reply to the note will be made

BAY STATE MUST OVERHAUL TROOPS TO SATISFY GOVERNMENT

Bay State troops may be entirely eliminated by the War Department unless drastic measures are adopted immediately to put the two brigades on a footing that will come up to the requirements of Congress.

This notice is contained in a communication sent to Governor Walsh by Assistant Secretary of War Henry Breckenridge, who asks the Governor to assist in the removal of all

REPORT NEPHEW OF SECRETARY DANIELS KILLED BY MEXICANS

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—United States Consul Miller at Tampico reports that an engineer named Burwell, said to be a nephew of Secretary Daniels had been killed at Orizuama, sixty miles inland

No details of the killing are given, but there are daily reports of rioting and fighting from that district. The country behind Tampico is the worst disordered in all Mexico. One village is held by the Federals; the next by the rebels. There are constant clashes, which have driven many into Tampico increasing the famine there.

General Zaragoza has been obtaining reinforcements in spite of the 10,000 rebels who had him hemmed in. He has also renewed his supply of ammunition—probably by small vessels which smuggled it from Tuspan.

The rebels have wind of Zaragoza's new strength and are drawing back, although the rumor persists that Villa is coming to take Tampico by assault

Zaragoza, having become stronger, is more amiable. It is probable that he will now give permission for the shipment of oil from Tuxpico. These wells cannot be checked, and the oil must run to waste unless steamers carry it away

The United States parcel post has opened here on the same basis as in the United States.

MISSES' High-Grade Model SUITS and COATS to be sold for very much less than their worth.

104 Misses' Suits made to sell for $40 to $125 at $27.75

40 Misses' Coats made to sell for $30 to $35 at $16.50

This is one of the most important purchases we have made this season. There is generally only one suit or coat of a kind.

THE SUITS (Sizes 16 and 18)

A few of them would retail ordinarily for $125 and none for less than $40. The average price would be double our price tomorrow.

They are the Spring model suits from a maker whose leadership is undisputed. Practically all are one-of-a-kind. Included are reproductions of Paquin, Jenny, Poiret, Cheruit, Drecoll, Bernard and Premet models.

Exact Reproductions of Premet's Boxie Suit
Paquin's Plaid Suit
Paquin's Directoire Coat
Jeanne d'Arcy's Suit
Cheruit's Russian Suit
Worth's new Tailored
Jenny's Silk Suit
Bernard's Cloth Suit

More than half of them are silks—blue and black taffetas, moire and rare color silk crepes; most of the others are navy blue serge or fine gabardine or serge and gabardine combined with taffeta or moire. They are the most desirable suits we could assemble—for the silk suit season has hardly begun, and blue serges were never more popular.

They are painstakingly and cleverly made—and feature the newest suit ideas, many of which will not begin to be generally worn until Fall, at least—such as spade backs, skirts pleated on to hip yokes, shoulder yokes, long tight fitting sleeves, very long tunics, "Amphora" flare skirts that flare from the knees; Directoire coat-tails, square stand-offish shoulder collars, and awning stripe collars. Among them are:

A black serge after Paquin with nickel buttons.
A black moire taffeta suit.
A green silk crepe with "Dutch-boy" skirt.
A black and white stripe cloth suit after Bernard with citron faille vest
A long tunic gabardine suit after Paquin with flare coat and Roman stripe vest.
A blue serge suit after Paquin with "Amphora" flared skirt. Sizes 16 and 18
A braided white serge suit. $27.75
A plaid silk and cloth suit after Jenny.
A snuff brown wool crepe suit trimmed with peacock blue moire after Poiret
A blue serge suit after Paquin with white and gold awning stripe collar.
A gold silk crepe after Paquin with Roman stripe capuchin collar and heavy silk tassels
A serge and moire suit with bouffant hip draping
A blue taffeta basque suit trimmed with navy buttons.
A corpose suit after Paquin of blue serge and blue taffeta.
A reversible street tailleur of serge and moire with tasseled pointed back.
A sashed suit of brown cut-duvetyne.
A blue taffeta suit after Cheruit, with stand-offish hood collar and wide high girdle.
A black moire waistcoat suit after Premet. (Filene—Fourth Floor)

THE COATS

Street Coats, Sport Coats, Matinee Coats, Capes, Soiree Coats.

Rare, beautiful coatings—moire, goffine, chinchilla, duvetyne, velvet corduroy, Bedford cord, eponge, serge, checks, cheviot and mixtures. Many are lined with flowered silk crepes, striped chiffon, or Roman stripe silk.

Among them are:

A golf jacket of vivid green wool plush
A peacock blue duvetyne street coat lined with Roman stripe silk.
A white chinchilla cape.
A white moire ripple coat with flowered silk revers
A campus coat of Scarlet English flannel.
A matinee coat of wide wale velvet corduroy with duvetyne buckled belt.
A checked street coat lined with serge.
A yellow goffine sport coat.
A cheviot street coat. $16.50
Sizes 14, 16, and 18

Girls' Coats, Special at $5 and $7.50

The kind of coats that have no trouble in finding girls to wear them, because they're pretty as well as inexpensive.

The $5 coat comes in serge and Shepherd checks. It is a straight box type, with hood-draped collar and wide back belt.

The $7.50 coat is one of the new ripple models, in checks and serge, with low belt and silk sailor collar.

(Filene's—Fourth Floor)

What is the Single Damper?

Crawford Ranges

have a patented damper which by one motion regulates fire and oven, better than two dampers can. Push the knob to "Kindle", "Bake", or "Check"—the range does the rest. This Single Damper is the greatest improvement ever made in stoves. All other ranges have two or more dampers.

The Two Hods in the base—the Ash Hod—instead of the old clumsy ash pan—with Coal Hod beside it—is another patented Crawford improvement. Both hods free.

BOY LEADS RAISE-THE-FLAG MOVE

Many Others Join in Great Tribute to Old Glory and the Boys in Blue.

Eight-year-old Anthony Winfield R S Cronin of No 3 Winthrop street, Worcester, whose father was a Spanish War Veteran and whose grandfather was killed in the Civil War, today heads the list of those enrolled in the AMERICAN S raise-the-flag movement

A little boy with a great name, which he hopes one day to make famous, this young patriot s keenest regret comes from the fact that he, too, cannot risk his life in the service of his beloved country

"I am only eight years old," he writes. "I only wish I was a man. I gladly would put on my father's uniform and help fight the Mexicans even as he fought the Spaniards, and as my grandfather fought in the South. My father and my grandfather honored the Stars and Stripes, for which they both died."

Other letters follow

SIDNEY H. STEVENS of No 623 E Fifth street, South Boston "We have this day unfurled Old Glory to the breeze It is flying from the flagpole in front of our house, in honor of our brave boys in Mexico There are four other flags flying in our vicinity. We would like to see the Stars and Stripes floating from every home in the country"

FRANK JOSEPH REIDY, No 24 Pitman street, Somerville. "I have two flags flying, one at the front of our house and one at the back. They are Boston AMERICAN flags. My cousin is a water-tender on the U S S Vermont He is a survivor of the sunken U S S Maine. I love the Stars and Stripes, and would give my life for it s cause."

GEORGE L. KIELSTEAD, No 61 Lexington street, Boston. "I am a little boy, seven years old, but my flag is flying from our window I am very proud of my flag, and my country"

JULIA O'BRIEN, Berkley "I am a sixteen-year-old girl. We have had two flags floating on the breeze since the first day we heard of the death of our brave Daniel Haggerty I pray daily for our noble boys in Mexico May God bless and follow them May He keep the deadly bullets from harming our boys"

LYDIA TUMBLAY, nine, No 17 Winnisseg street, Salem. "I raised my flag this noon. It will stay up until my two uncles come back from Mexico Their names are Corporal Dagenais, Troop B Fifteenth Cavalry, and Oscar Dagenais, Troop I, Thirteenth Cavalry"

A. H. GALE, 1228 Globe street, Fall River. "I am in hearty sympathy with your suggestion to keep the flag flying Our Old Glory always is in evidence on special occasions. But this is an extraordinary occasion We are keeping the colors aloft every day now."

CHARLIE ROCK, Northbridge "My papa raised the flag today, because he loves his country and his flag He always stands up for his rights. So will I, when I am a man"

Winfield Cronin of Worcester Would Follow Father and Grandfather Into War.

MISS FRANCES L FURTADO, No 21 Hanaboro street, Dorchester "I have raised the flag, as should every patriot today My uncle, William H Martin of Cambridge, a Civil War veteran, before his death used to tell me of the hardships of a soldier's life I sympathize with all who have relatives or sweethearts at the front. May God grant them a safe return"

WILLIAM F BLAKE, Greenfield "I have raised the flag, in honor of our country, although only nine years old Also in remembrance of my cousin, James T O'Leary, of the U S S Maine I shall leave it out until the trouble in Mexico is ended."

"Tartans"

A Sizzling Style Liner

Right Hot Off Fashion's Bat

But before a Ty Cobb could get half way to first we gather it in. That's a habit of ours. When they tell you elsewhere that such-and-such a thing will be the favorite next season, but isn't to be had now, it's a ten-to-one shot you'll find it here. We're the Tris Speakers of fashion fielding.

Here's the Story of Tartan Plaids

These patterns have a pedigree long as your arm, but we won't waste space on that. What do you care whether they originated in Scotland or Senegambia? They're good to look upon and good to wear and the newest thing out of the style box.

What are they? Little fine checks or plaids of very subdued reds, browns, greens, blues, purples and blacks—the general color of the suit depending on which color predominates in the pattern. As a rule they are not high colored, but in soft, subdued tones with the plaid effect almost invisible—patterns that the most conservative man may wear.

There may be a handful of these patterns scattered around town—enough to be advertised now that we've broken the ice—but for goodly quantities of good Tartans, for good fabrics, good styles and good values, you'll have to do as you've been doing the past three years when you wanted anything new and right—come to Kennedy's.

Many of These Tartans Bear the Label of

The House of Kuppenheimer

—and were imported direct from "Across the Pond." Others were woven on American looms. But wherever their birthplace, the Kuppenheimer Label insures their goodness just as it insures correct style and fine tailoring. And whether it's a Tartan Plaid or some other attractive pattern, you are further assured of the best value obtainable when you buy Kuppenheimer Clothes at the Kennedy prices of $18 $20 $22.50 $25 to $35

Unusual Fabric Values

When a man can afford only a low priced suit, a long wearing fabric is doubly desirable. Without any sacrifice of style or workmanship, fabrics which ordinary stores offer at $18.00 and $20.00 are here at $12.50 and $15

Kennedy Shoes

M'ADOO AND HIS BRIDE ELUDE GUESTS IN AUTO

WASHINGTON, May 8 — William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, and his bride, who was Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, youngest daughter of the President and Mrs. Wilson, are today on a secret honeymoon.

Secretary McAdoo and his bride, during a dance which followed the ceremony in the historic Blue Room of the White House, slipped into a waiting automobile and motored rapidly out of Washington by way of Rockville, Md. They expect to spend a week or ten days on their honeymoon.

The manner in which the couple were married was simple. The Rev Sylvester W. Beach, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Princeton, N. J., officiated.

USE "OBEY" IN SERVICE.

The Presbyterian single ring service was used with the characteristic words "honor and obey." As the President gave the bride away there was a look of smile on his face. The wedding party in the Red room repeated the responses strongly. They smiled happily as they led the procession from the east to the Red Room, where they received the congratulations of friends.

Supper was served at small tables in the state dining room, while the Marine band played. The bride's table was presided over by Miss Margaret Carey of Washington.

Among the gifts included a pearl necklace from the bridegroom, the gift of the bridegroom's parents, a gold watch and chain, a diamond and pearl pin and full pieces.

MANY BRIDAL GIFTS.

Gold plate, not the mesh variety now in vogue, bearing the bride's monogram, was among other gifts received. Not alone, but the entire range and donors will be given.

A number of what might be termed "freak" gifts were received. These, however, were of the variety of old horseshoes, which in this country are supposed to bring luck, rolls of up-to-date wearing apparel, cooking utensils, etc.

Of the gifts received from the "best selects," that which, when, given with the request that it be worn by the recipient at the wedding, will be returned to the donor.

It was the first time a President's daughter had married a cabinet officer. Miss Wilson's father, as President of the United States, is head of the Treasury Department. This gave added importance to the wedding, for it was the first time a cabinet officer's daughter had married the head of the department.

Miss McAdoo was a visitor at the White House for a number of months prior to her marriage, and was a favorite with Washington society.

WEARS MOTHER'S VEIL.

One of the features of the wedding was the bride's veil, which was worn by her mother, Mrs. and Miss Wilson were married in 1885. The veil was worn by Mrs. Sayre, Miss McAdoo's sister, when she was married a few months ago.

The ceremony took place in the Blue Room, on the south side of the White House, which is the most beautiful room in the White House. It is in the Blue Room that receptions to the diplomatic corps, the judiciary, the cabinet and other high officials are held. The room is done in French blue, and the draperies and furniture are of the same shade.

Not only the Blue Room, but the entire first floor of the White House was used, most of them open to the White House conservatory, filled with beautiful vases of cut flowers.

Miss McAdoo is the fourteenth White House bride. Frances Folsom was married to President Cleveland in the Blue Room twenty-eight years ago. Mrs. Ida Saxton McKinley was married in her home. Nellie Grant, who married Algernon F. Sartoris, was married in the White House.

Among the girl guests for the wedding were Ruth Hall, personal friend of Miss McAdoo, and Miss Margaret Wilson, sister of the bride. Miss Hall is from Wilmington, Del. Miss Wilson is from Atlantic City. Miss Elizabeth Bullock, Princeton, N. J., and Miss Cheslie Kenny, Baltimore, Md.

SIMPLE CEREMONY.

In the receiving line at the wedding, the Misses Hall, Miss Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Elizabeth Bullock, Miss Cheslie Kenny, Miss Jessie Sayre, Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, Miss Nancy Lane, the daughter of Secretary Lane, Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, and Mrs. Robert Lansing. The ushers were in frocks exactly resembling Secretary Lane of the Interior Department, presented the bride.

The bride was escorted to the Blue room by her father, the President of the United States. At the altar she was joined by the bridegroom, Mr. McAdoo, and the best man, Mr. [illegible]. Miss Wilson, the maid of honor, followed immediately after the bride and bridegroom. The ceremony took only a few minutes, after which the wedding supper was served in the State dining room.

The [illegible] was of ivory satin, adorned with Empress Eugenie lace. The satin which draped the bodice, brought to a point below the shoulders, and the V-shaped neck was finished with soft folds of tulle. The tunic of tulle was made on the long, long lines like long mousquetaire sleeves were made of tulle.

The [illegible] over the right shoulder, and crossed the bodice in a sweeping line to the left side of the waist, where it was caught with a sprig of orange blossoms. Below the waist line it fell as a border to the tulle tunic. From the bridal wreath of orange blossoms in cap effect the long tulle veil was draped. Practically the sole ornament worn by the bride was a necklace of diamonds, the gift of the bridegroom. The bride carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, white orchids and lilies.

British Charity Ball Plans Announced

The British Charitable Society announces plans for the seventh annual British Charity Ball. At a meeting at the Hotel Bellevue the report of last year's ball was discussed, and the new plans were made public. Then there was a supper and vaudeville. William Hill gave a recitation. The following men took part in a musical programme: Phillip Brymir, John Cain, President Albert F. Flint, A. B. Bruford, Fred A. Harvey, Louis G. Holmes and Henry R. May.

Flower Girl Gets Wedding Cake Ring

WASHINGTON, May 8—Nancy Lane, one of the flower girls at the McAdoo-Wilson wedding, received the piece of wedding cake containing the ring. The bride cut the cake and it was served. Suddenly Nancy Lane almost choked.

Now little Miss Nancy is wondering who it will be and when it will happen. For, of course, she will be the next bride, she says.

HEAD COVERED WITH BALD PLACES

Large Red Blotches Covered Body, Broke Out on Head. Hair Came Out in Handfuls. So Disfigured Ashamed to Go Out. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Woodstown, N. J.—"I suffered with a peculiar heating out which started around the neck, large red blotches which peeled and left sores. Gradually they covered my whole body excepting my hands and feet. Later the sores broke out on my head. My head became covered with large bald places. My hair came out in handfuls. The blotches itched and burned. I was terribly disfigured and everyone noticed me so I was ashamed to go out. I wasn't allowed to attend school until I certified my disease was not catching.

"I took medicine without being helped. Then someone told me of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The places began to dry up within a week. Within six weeks I looked like a different person. I was cured in two months and my skin was clear." (Signed) Miss Hester P. Watson, Oct. 8, 1913.

A generation of mothers has found no soap so well suited for cleansing and purifying the skin and hair of infants and children as Cuticura Soap. Its absolute purity and refreshing fragrance alone are enough to recommend it above ordinary skin soaps, but there are added to these qualities delicate yet effective emollient properties, derived from Cuticura Ointment, which render it most valuable in overcoming a tendency to distressing eruptions and promoting a normal condition of skin and hair health. Cuticura Soap (25c.) and Cuticura Ointment (50c.) sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

☞Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

WIFE WANTS BECKER TO TAKE STAND AT TRIAL

NEW [illegible] unless there are [illegible] to that here is counsel to decide to the contrary, Lieutenant Charles Becker, will testify in his own defence at his trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal. This course is being urged by the defendant's wife, who is exerting her influence to have her husband take the stand and tell the jury that he was [illegible] Monday.

Mrs Becker was reported to [illegible] husband that her story [illegible] would be more effective than the stories told by a score of witnesses.

PRIEST IS BARRED.

Father James [illegible] Becker's spiritual [illegible] was denied admission to the [illegible] today by order of Commissioner [illegible] Davis, who charges he [illegible] with being the ringleader of a plot to discredit her administration. The priest protested to Warden Hadley, but the official said that [illegible] had been forbidden to allow [illegible] except his lawyers to see Becker.

[illegible] selection of a jury [illegible] into the Becker case [illegible] was resumed today, [illegible] the defence has [illegible] witnesses Manuel Jo[illegible] Father William [illegible] presiding person.

"DAGO FRANK'S" STORY.

Issuance of subpoenas for these [illegible] caused their reported plan to enter no defence.

Success on to the "confession" of "Dago Frank" Crofiel will be sought from Warden Clancy and Chaplain [illegible]. In this "confession" the gunman declared that he never heard Becker's name mentioned in connection with the plot to kill Rosenthal, and that he understood Rosenthal's assassination was due to a gamblers' feud.

TO FIGHT "CONFESSION."

Attempts to introduce the "confession" will be opposed by District Attorney Whitman. It is likely to become the centre of a legal battle that will have to be decided by the Court of Appeals. Two hundred new talesmen crowded into Justice Seabury's court today. There were six men in the jury box when the session opened, and District Attorney Whitman was hopeful that the jury would be completed by night.

Bourke Cockran probably will take no active part in the trial, but is expected to [illegible] the closing address for Becker. Mr Whitman is preparing to [illegible] that Cockran declared the proceedings before Justice Seabury to be [illegible] a trial but an assassination."

Cockran has declared this untrue, and asserted he would repudiate the whole thing if called in contempt proceedings.

BLAGDEN, BECKER JUROR, HARVARD MAN AND WELL KNOWN HERE

The foreman, P. Meredith Blagden, was the tenth talesman examined. His youthful appearance is striking. He came to court with a book in his hand, and his manner was that of a collegian. He is a graduate of Harvard in the class of 1909, and remained at Harvard a year and a half longer to study law. It was the first time Mr Whitman's career that a whilom law student was selected to serve on a jury in a murder case. Mr Blagden said that he gave up studying law before the real estate business, and recently became connected with the banking house of Redmond & Co.

HOLD SOLEMN SERVICES FOR GEN. SICKLES

NEW YORK, May 8.—Impressive services were conducted today at St Patrick's Cathedral over the body of Major-General Daniel E. Sickles, attended by survivors among his comrades at the Battle of Gettysburg, members of the National Guard and a detachment of regulars from the United States army post on Governor's Island.

The casket, covered with a silk American flag, was carried from the Sickles residence to the cathedral upon a gun caleson escorted by the Twelfth Regiment, N. G. N. Y., the Old Guard, members of the Grand Army posts of New York city and a detachment of regulars.

The pall bearers were the fifteen surviving members of Phil Kearney Grand Army Post of which the deceased was a member.

At the cathedral a solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Monsignor Lavelle after which the remains were taken to the Pennsylvania railroad station for shipment to Washington, where they will be interred in the Arlington Natio al Cemetery. A special funeral train carried the remains and a few mourners to the national capital. At Washington the body will be received by a special guard from the regular army, designated by Secretary of War Garrison. Interment will take place tomorrow.

GERMAN BAN ON ALSACE REPORT STIRS FRANCE

PARIS, May 8—A wave of indignation is sweeping over France as the result of a report to the effect that the German government intends to refuse permission to French citizens to reside in Alsace-Lorraine.

Hitherto French citizens residing in the provinces wrested from France in 1871, have been required to obtain permits of residence, each permits having to be renewed once or twice each year. The Governor of Alsace-Lorraine, it is stated, has decided to grant no new permits and not to renew any of those now in force.

Proposals of immediate reprisals are being brought forward, one being that all Germans in Paris be expelled at once. The German population in the French capital, including persons who pass as natives of the L xembourg district, may be conservatively computed at about 100,000.

The greatest reserve is maintained as to what steps the French government is preparing to take.

Woman Accused of Killing Conductor

CHICAGO, May 8—Mrs Nellie Hines was held to the Grand Jury [illegible] after by a coroner's jury, following testimony that she shot William W. Wills, conductor of the Semi-mole Limited. Mrs Hines, represented by Attorney Charles Erbstein, took no part in the inquest.

When I grabbed her after the shooting, I said, 'Why did you do it?' testified Dennis O'Leary, Parmelee Transfer man. 'She said, 'Because he took my husband and child away from me.'"

MR. GALVIN TO LECTURE IN LORIMER HALL

The many thousands of Boston citizens who are interested in the Irish cause will learn with pleasure that in response to the request of many leading men and women Mr O'Connell Galvin will lecture next week, beginning Monday, in Lorimer Hall, Tremont Temple, on "Ireland Up to Date," with special reference to that phase of the Irish home rule situation popularly referred to as "The Ulster Problem."

Mr. Galvin will supplement his lecture, which sheds a new light on the whole Irish question, by a splendid series of specially prepared slides.

In view of the widespread interest now prevailing the world over in the great struggle for home rule the opportunity for information to be given from a man who knows whereof he speaks is sure to be availed of by large numbers of people who like intelligent and live interest in this [illegible] interesting national and international question.

Keep Looking Young

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

The secret of keeping young—is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle.

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel are gentle in their action yet always get there. "I. C. S. —Makers of MEN"

More than mere technical information is gained through a course in the International Correspondence Schools.

Character is what counts in any line of endeavor, and the I. C. S. student learns sacrifice, concentration, the habit of thoroughness, and self-confidence in this "Man-building Factory."

These are facts that are recognized by corporation heads and business men, whose ever-present need is the efficient man.

Every unit of the I. C. S. student body, now more than a million strong, represents a striving, aspiring individual, broadened in power and vision by the Schools that teach through the mails.

Think what it means to the future of this country to have 10,000 such transformations taking place every month!

Men who would build character — men who have the ambition to become more efficient in the world's work —will find it well worth while to mark the coupon opposite the occupation that interests them most.

Visit our exhibition of students' work in Boston and see sample instruction papers at Department of Displays, 234 Washington Street.

BUSINESS MEN NOT BACKERS OF RESCUE HOME

Three business men in an appeal to the Chamber of Commerce today object to the alleged unauthorized use of their names in connection with the Christian Non-Sect Rescue Home for Old Ladies, conducted by the Rev. George W. Tillman at No. 3 East Lenox street, Roxbury.

L. B. Hayes, assistant secretary of the chamber, has issued the following statement:

"The following gentlemen have authorized me to request that you give publicity to the effect that their name has been called to the fact that their names are being used as members of the executive advisory committee of the Christian Non-Sectarian Home, conducted by the Rev. George W. Tillman at No 3 East Lenox street.

"The undersigned have authorized me to state that the use of their names is without authority, and contrary to repeated instructions. Any further use of their names as being in any way connected or indorsing the work of this so-called home is without their authority.

"The men are John A. Raymond of the East Weymouth Savings Bank; Maurice Buchman, attorney, No 24 State street, and Isaac Heller, real estate dealer in the Kimball building."

BIG STARS TO COME OUT FOR TENNIS TRIALS

In one international contest, at any rate, this year the professional prophets honestly believe that after the debris has been cleared away they will be able to safely spring the "I-told-you-so" gag. And that line is lawn tennis.

Something really awful will have to happen to upset the dope. So sure are the members of the national body of what is going to happen that they could almost be persuaded to give the contract now for the printing of tickets for the challenge round for the Davis Cup.

England is almost sure to wade through the other nations in one-half of the draw, and it is a dead certainty that Australasia will have little difficulty in emerging successfully from the other half.

AUSTRALASIA'S STRONG.

The Antipodeans, Wilding, Brookes, Dunlop and Doust, will surely lay low the champions of their mother country, making of themselves the challengers of the United States for the trophy. And there you are you are. Everything known beforehand excepting the ultimate winner.

We are aware of just what we shall have to do to keep the pot and have a nice long time in which to prepare for the job. The first line of defence, and even some of the second, has already been summoned to mobilize in order that when the big battle comes off on the grounds of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills Long Island, the third week in August and nobody seems to doubt that New York will get the big attraction—the United States will be in a position to repulse the enemy.

All the big guns have been urged to come to New York as early in the season as possible, so as to familiarize themselves with the topography of the battlefield. Maurice E. McLaughlin, the national champion, who will be depended upon to tackle the great Wilding, has already promised to come East in about six weeks "Tommy" Bundy, his partner in the doubles championship, who hopes to get a crack at the Australian pair, will get here perhaps before the end of next month.

CALIFORNIANS TRIUMPH.

This year will be a great triumph for the Californians. When the Pacific Coast players first turned up at Newport a few years ago it can hardly be said that they got a very cordial reception from the Easterners. Now the East looks to California to furnish the backbone of the fighting force in all competition with the rest of the world.

In addition to McLoughlin and Bundy, the three rising young Californians, William M. Johnston, John B. Strachan and C. J. Griffin have been invited by the cup committee to compete for places on the cup team. Strachan and Griffin were the runners-up to McLoughlin and Bundy in the national doubles last year.

The ranking first ten players who have been asked to take part in the trials are McLoughlin, Johnston and Strachan of California, R. N. Williams, William J. Clothier and Wallace F. Johnson of Philadelphia, Nathaniel W. Niles and G. P. Gardner of Boston, and T. R. Pell and Gustave F. Touchard of New York. Class I men have also been asked to go to Forest Hills. These include S. M. Chaney, A. S. Dabney, C. J. Griffin, W. M. Hall, F. C. Inman, Robert Leroy, Dean Mathey, H. Vethall, W. M. Washburn and F. H. Whitney.

OLD TIMERS OUT.

Old-timers like Raymond D. Little, E. P. Larned, R. H. Behr, F. G. Alexander and H. H. Hackett and a host of other players from all over the country have also been told that they will be welcome at the big reunion of players which is being arranged to lay plans to meet the most formidable array of champions that has ever threatened to invade this country.

Philadelphia Polo Star Badly Hurt

PHILADELPHIA, May 8—Thomas H. Dougherty, one of the leading Philadelphia polo players and star back of the Philadelphia Country Club team, was thrown from his pony during practice on the club's field and badly injured. Mr. Dougherty was carried from the field unconscious and taken to the Germantown Hospital, where he was found to have concussion of the brain.

Miss Osgood Winner in Chestnut Hill Play

Miss Fanny C. Osgood of the Country Club was the winner in the handicap vs. bogey competition at the Chestnut Hill Golf Club in the weekly meeting of the Women's G. A. of Boston.

Miss Osgood played from scratch and finished seven down. Thirty-six took part in the play, of which fourteen returned no cards.

EVANS DOES NOT RECOMMEND GOLFING ABOARD OCEAN LINER

By "CHICK" EVANS.

Special Cable to Boston American.

PANDRILL, Kent, May 8.—Plain-guard, with its solid cliff and green fields, looked very good to me upon my arrival. I landed in Welsh Harbor in fine health and spirits. I am indeed very glad to set my feet on British turf once more.

On my trip over I loafed around on board ship for some means of golfing. About the third day out another golfer produced a "brassie," and together we repaired to the upper deck and solemnly swung our clubs. The swishing sound was like music to our ears then. Our feeling was particularly energetic from the effect of the good sea air and our abundant diet.

I gathered some old balls and an old rubber tee that I chanced to have along and essayed some shots. Unfortunately there were railings everywhere, and my ball, instead of seeking the bounding waves, bounded all over the neck.

Then I had my club head back and sliced another ball far out to sea. The stance however, was much too unsteady to produce good results, and mashie shots into the sea at 65 cents per and did not seem particularly profitable to me.

DRIVES BALL 300 YARDS.

There was on board a golf-registering machine which was supposed to show the height and distance made by an attached ball that spun around on an indicator. So I took off my golfing apparatus was installed on the lower deck, and in the presence of a small gallery I made over the upper deck I drove the ball from a coconut mat.

My first drive was 300 yards, maximum distance registered. My next attempt carried 250 yards, and half again. I was not sure whether the sea air had given me giant strength or whether the machine was out of order.

After a few more strenuous shots the rope snapped, and I barely escaped committing murder of the high seas. The fortunate sailor, not realizing his narrow escape, promptly returned the ball, and I drove it into the Atlantic out of harm's way.

Naturally this ended the experiment. The sailor then suggested another idea. He said that when he was on a ship coming from Australia he saw a fellow hitting pieces of paper on deck with golf clubs. So we cocoanut mat and some white balls were procured. After three one golfer stood up an four and started out the three balls into space. No other golfer and I tried out the suggestion for about half an hour, but we could not recommend it, for there was no feel to the shots.

PUTTY WHILE BOAT MOVES.

Then the steward put a small green putting disc in my room. I tried it several times, thinking that if I could hole out with the boat moving I could do it easily in the Sandwich wind.

But if my putting at Sandwich depends on what I did on board the Carmania my doom is sealed now. After these experiments I took my clubs out and felt them, but I reached England after having practically golfless for two weeks.

When the Mauretania came within wireless distance I was informed of Hilton victory in the Gold Vase contest. This is a rather discouraging beginning for the Americans.

I shall play my first round here today.

Charles "Chick" Evans, former Western golf champion, and several times runner-up in the United States national championship, will write exclusively for the AMERICAN on the doings of the Yankee golfers abroad. His first article appears today.

Giant Subs Cut in on Army Precedent

WEST POINT, May 8.—With the Army baseball team showing splendid form, local interest centres around the game scheduled for Saturday between the cadets and Manager McGraw's second team of Giants. The Nation'l Leaguers will meet the cadets on the latter's field in an exhibition game. It will be the first time an Army team ever played other than college teams.

Tinker Exceeds Speed Limit.

'SECONDS' BEAT FIRST HARVARD EIGHT IN RACE

The Harvard crews had another race, but this time it was only over the half mile course. The two varsities and the first two freshmen crews were the contestants. This race was merely to give the men practice in rowing a high stroke beside other crews.

The four crews rowed down the Basin, and tried a few racing starts, the two varsities finishing about even in every one of them. After the eights had turned around they lined up and started to row a half-mile to Cottage Farm bridge. The "seconds" caught the water first and drew away. They kept this lead and won by a half a length over the varsity, with the freshmen two lengths behind and the second 1912 boat the same distance behind them.

The work of the first varsity was very wretched, the catch especially being poor. Individual faults are being hard to keep up and were very not visible in the race. The most important of these is the slide work which is getting worse every day. The men are rushing down on their seats and want, instead of limiting their slide so as to reach the end of it just in time to catch the water. This hanging at the catch causes the boat to check. The boat was very heavy, partly due to this hanging at the catch.

There will be no more racing this week, as the men feel three days in succession is enough. The Harvard A. A. management borrowed a coxless four-oared shell from the Union Boat Club, and will surely send a crew to the American Henley on May 16.

ONCE MORE IN THE SAME PLACE SOX BATTLE CRY

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

Having disposed of that first clash with the Yanks, 2 to 0, it is up to Mr Bill Carrigan and his troupe to keep up the merry game. But there be no heartition waits, however. Not will frets be countenanced, or outsteps or twosteps. Nothing less than a wild, tumultuous whirl is demanded.

Mr. "Dutch" Leonard will probably be asked to toe the scratch in the 2 15 o'clock bout of the frenzy this afternoon, and Mr. Ray Keating, erstwhile of Lawrence, Mass., is expected to oppose him. It will then be southpaw vs. spitball, and on paper it looks like an even battle.

No fault can be found with the Red Sox play yesterday. All that is asked is that they keep it up. The Yanks are playing hard, but baseball and give them an inch on the bases and they will take a yard. They have some great pitchers on their staff and some speedy ones on the paths. They are full of ginger and they are not disposed to stand quietly by and see the opponents walk away with a game of ball.

Manager Frank Chance left a sick bed to be here with the team. His physician tells him that he must be careful, as he narrowly escaped pneumonia, and the danger is not yet over. But the "Peerless Leader" is like a wildman when he is not with his players, so the doctor was forced to allow him to come to Boston.

Morning practice of the Red Sox began today. Joe Wood is out with his teammates and is will pitch as soon as Carrigan says the word. He is in shape right now to go in the box in batting practice he showed he has plenty of speed and nerve.

Our boys are beginning to pickle the ball. Speaker, Lewis, Hooper and Yerkes have recently come to the front with long drives. That is what the "fans" want to see, some extra base clouting. Come on with those doubles and three-baggers, boys!

BASEBALL NEWS AND NOTES

A NEW YORK SUPER HAS WAS started in the case of Jack Wilson, the lefthander who was sold by the Red Sox for waiver last year. Wilson was claimed by the Yankees, but the Red Sox appealed from the decision and this has caused delay.

MANAGER FRANK CHANCE OF THE Yankees will be back on the Yanks' bench yesterday. Hugh Ji Kennedy, acting for the duration of Frank's illness, has been Uncle Robert to the Yanks.

NOW THAT THE PANAMA WEATHER has let up to a certain extent, it is expected that the Braves will be able to get down to some real baseball. Last year Boston was a real fast team in May.

THE SERIES AGAINST THE EASTERN team of the American League, at Cleveland, over Sunday, will be a big one. Boston is now in second place, with the Indians one game ahead. Both clubs have an even percentage, and the winner of the series will be in class of the league for a few days.

THOS SPEAKER AND DUFFY LUDLAM are playing baseball in a big way. In the series at Cleveland Sunday Speaker hit a home run and Ludlam made a three-bagger.

EDDIE COLLINS, THE ATHLETICS' big leader, and Vean Gregg, the Cleveland pitcher, are not in the game next Monday. Collins was injured in the game last Monday.

PITCHER HERBERT, WHO WENT SOUTH with the Red Sox this year, has decided to go to the Springfield club.

IN PHILADELPHIA, TO BE PICKED A Venice, a Roman and a Murad and only Lorenzo Cavera and Jess Barnes are needed to complete a North Side league.

IN ONE DAY'S GAME, OWEN BUSH AC cepted eight fly ball chances and made two assists from left field, and made two singles from the opposite field. Bush is a left handed batter, batting from the right side of the plate.

IN THE FIRST WEEK OF THE WORK OF Catcher Wingo, short men up to his last year's standard. It will be interesting to see how his leadership has been faith ed several months.

WITH THE BROWNS SLIDING INTO the first division, the Cubs down and the Cleveland leading, the old race back what it used to be.

THE PIRATES WHICH GRIPPED MOR gadal Bees, of the Feds, will not be able to relieve Kenetchy as the latter shot as the biggest outfielder of either club will be used on a player in No. 12. The latter beat up the pitcher for ten runs.

IN TWENTY WEEK DAYS THE MAJOR leagues have been a day to get, but enough on which the postponed of four games could be played.

Flynn Disqualified in Schumacher Bout

TURNERS FALLS, May 8.—Eddie Flynn of Lynn, was disqualified in the 10th round of his match with John Schumacher of Burlington, Ia. Referee Crowley warned him five times previously to stop using a pivot blow, but Flynn again used the blow in the 10th and was disqualified.

In the semi-final Patsey Green of Cambridge and Young Aronson of Boston fought eight fast rounds to a draw.

In the preliminary Young Lajoie of Northampton won the decision over Battling O'Neil of Holyoke in one round. This bout was scheduled to go six rounds.

Fritts Wins Over Kennedy.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Sailor Fritts outpointed Tom Kennedy in seven of the 10 rounds at the New Stadium A. C. Phil Bloom and Johnny Lore fought an interesting 10-round draw in the semi-finals.

Mahoney Beats Murphy.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 8.—Young Mahoney, the veteran Racine middleweight, earned the decision in a fast 10 round bout with Tommy Murphy of Chicago.

Tigers Beat Columbia.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 8.—The Princeton tennis team defeated Columbia by the score of 5 to 2.

Hinckle Beats Diamond.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—Stanley Hinckle defeated Harry Diamond before the Broadway A. C. in six rounds.

Ridge Seniors Win.

The Ridge Technical seniors defeated the juniors in the annual track and field competition at Cambridge by a score of 48 to 21. Ridge, a senior, scored 16 points for his class.

Winchester School Meet.

The seniors won the interclass track meet of the Winchester High School with a total of 32 points; the juniors were second with 28 points, and the freshmen got 8 points.

Walsh Has Helped Yanks Considerably

Power given the lineup by Jimmy Walsh, who is playing good ball in left field for the Yankees at Fenway Park, is credited with the rejuvenation of the New Yorks. Walsh's first and most prominent stunt this season was to beat the athletics the team from which Chance obtained him. Philadelphians give Walsh credit for three victories in a five-game series.

In this series he batted .353. His made twenty-three trips to the plate, drew six passes, made six hits for seven bases, stole seven runs. He proved himself as a fielder and base runner and those who have been watching him both. He will make a name for himself.

Tufts Team of 16 for College Meet

Coach Duffy of the Tufts College track team has selected a team of sixteen to compete in the New England Intercollegiates in the Stadium at Cambridge.

The following are the men who will go into the big meet:

[illegible] Perdue and Peal [illegible] 220 yd. dash, Hall and Peal [illegible] 440 yd. run, Hall and Peal [illegible] 880 yd. run, Robinson [illegible] mile run, Phillips [illegible] two mile run, Thomas Parker [illegible] high jump, Parker [illegible] broad jump, Parker and Hall [illegible] pole vault.

The last previous track meet for the New Secrets cup will be held this afternoon on the final.

Dartmouth Golfers Lost to Williams

WILLIAMSTOWN, May 8.—The golfers this afternoon over Dartmouth 5 to 2.

Giles, Dartmouth, defeated Hyde-Williams, 1 up; Mirelad, Williams, defeated Wolfe, Dartmouth, 3 and 2; Fessenden, Williams, defeated Cutler, Dartmouth, 4 and 3; Gleason, Williams, defeated Caldwell, Dartmouth, 2 and 1; Hopkins, Dartmouth, defeated Atwood, Williams, 1 up.

Yale Tennis Team Wins.

MIDDLETOWN, Ct., May 8.—Wesleyan lost to Yale at tennis, 4 matches to 2, taking one match in the singles and one in the doubles. The matches were all hotly contested, four of them going for three sets.

Zbyszko Downs Americus.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 8.—Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, defeated Gus Schoenlein, Americus of Baltimore here tonight, taking two falls out of three.

Cassell Wins Yale Shoot.

NEW HAVEN, May 8.—John Cassell, '15, of Roanoke, Va., won the annual spring shoot of the Yale Gun Club. He "killed" a total of 50 birds with a handicap of eight.

Vermont Wins Track Meet.

MIDDLEBURY, Vt., May 8.—Middlebury lost to the University of Vermont in a track meet on Porter Athletic Field, 75 points to 56.

BRITISH POLO HEAD QUITS IN PICKING TEAM

LONDON, May 8.—Baron Wimborne decided to leave to the Hurlingham Polo Club the responsibility for the selection of a polo team to go to the United States this Summer to play the Meadowbrook team for the international polo trophy held by that club.

The Times says it is an open secret that Baron Wimborne has not been accorded such whole-hearted support as the organizer of the American team, and although he has been at great pains and expense to secure the best polo ists and ponies, his efforts failed to achieve their desorts, and hence his decision to retire from the management of the challenging team is a wise one.

The Times expresses the hope that Mr. Freake and Captain Cheap will see their way to join the British team.

It is understood that in his efforts to form his team Baron Wimborne approached almost every first-class player in the country. It is said, however, that he received little encouragement.

Wheatley the Star in N. Y. Water Meet

NEW YORK, May 8.—Joseph Wheatley of the N. A. A. C. was the star of the swimming meet held in the Woolworth A. C. on top of the Woolworth building. He won the 100-yard swim easily in 1m 1 2-5s. The N. Y. A. C. made a clean sweep in the 100-yard handicap final, Joseph Reilly, M. W. Bennett and Joseph Zumbach finishing in order named. The time was 1m. 2-5s.

Coombs Back in Box Soon, Says Doctor

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—John Coombs, the Athletics' famous pitcher, will be back in the game again in about six weeks, according to a statement given out by Dr. Barnett's office, where he was given a thorough examination. Dr Carnett was well satisfied with Coombs' condition.

NEW SHAMROCK CALLED FREAK BUT A FLYER

LONDON, May 8.—A fantastic design is the building Works description of Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger for the American cup.

The new boat, so he boasts, says the World, "is the greatest leap forward of the day, which gives her a very exaggerated 'cod head,' and the extreme flatness of the midships from her looks."

The squarehead story is another violation of the proven canon of yacht designing. The greatest overhang is forward, and sundship section should be as is very square on bilge and flat on the floor. The lead keel is flat at the bottom.

Continuing, the Yachting World says that the challenger's great beam is twenty-four feet and her draught without the centreboard counterweight, with the centreboard down twenty-three feet. The mast is 110 feet high, and the "Mizzen topmast" gives an additional fifty feet.

In concluding its article on the new boat, the Yachting World says: "If the latest challenge is not a flyer, it will not be because power has been sacrificed for fine nautical notions."

Penn Miler Makes New Mark in Meet

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—A feature of the track meet between the Pennsylvania freshmen and the combined preparatory schools of the city was the breaking of the one-mile record by James Peoso of the freshmen team. Jones ran the mile in 4 3-5 s. He clipped eight seconds off the previous freshmen record and ran close with Jones, the Penn Pennsylvania runner.

Roach to Join Lowell.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 8.—Cornelius Roach has been released from the Boston Americans, will come to Lowell as a field pitcher.

Eaton to Lead Commerce.

Capt. Eaton, '15, has been elected captain of the next track team of the School of Commerce.

Boston College and Colby battle this afternoon at the National League grounds. Coach Monahan expects to start F. Devlin, the old B. C. High star, at first.

Yale Crews Hold Big Regatta Today

NEW HAVEN, May 8.—The Yale Spring regatta will be held today in New Haven harbor.

Seven races will be rowed. There will be four interclass races and the winner of this race will meet the sophomore crew which won the Harvard interclass regatta. The second freshman crew will race the Spring field High School crew.

The most interesting race will be the one mile and a half mile race between the first Second Yale varsity crews. As the small race, the first here prior to scheduled. There are four crews.

Penn Crew Crippled by Loss of Stroke

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—The University of Pennsylvania crew is crippled for the race with Columbia and Princeton on Saturday. Herbert Shoemaker, varsity stroke, was taken suddenly ill with gastritis shortly before the crew departed and was unable to accompany them. His place probably will be taken by A. Littleton, who has been at No. 6. Hodgson has been rowing at No. 2 in the second boat, will take [illegible] at No. 4.

CHAPTER EIGHT

Vitali Passes Away

REMI and Vitali, in spite of their bad fortune, had managed to make their way to Paris, where Vitali had planned to leave Remi with an old friend of his until business picked up again. He hated to part with the boy, but there was absolutely no use in keeping him, for starvation stared them both in the face and while Vitali was an old man and looked upon death philosophically, Remi was a child and must be taken care of.

When the two finally reached the lodging house in Paris where Garofoli, Vitali's friend, was staying there was no one at home but a small boy who gave his name as Matteo. He said that Garofoli would be in soon and that they might stay and wait for him if they liked. But when Vitali said that he was in a hurry and would leave a note, Matteo turned away with a shrug of the shoulders that ill befitted a child so young as he.

"I think you'd better stay and see him," he said, looking at Remi curiously, but Vitali had already found a paper and pencil and was scrawling a hasty note to Garofoli, asking him to take Remi for the remainder of the Winter, and adding that he played the harp remarkably well for so young a child.

After Vitali had taken leave of Remi, Matteo turned to him with a smile on his dark little face.

"I'll tell you now why I think he'll be sorry he left you," he vouchsafed. "Garofoli beats the boys here all the time when they don't bring home enough money for him. Are you afraid, have you ever had a beating?"

Remi shook his head, and Matteo was about to explain further when the door was pushed open and Garofoli came in, followed almost immediately by a crowd of boys. He read Vitali's note, and then put it down and turned to the last boy who had entered.

"Did you get any more than you did last night?" he thundered, standing over the cowering child, who cringed as though expecting a blow any minute.

A CRUEL MASTER

"No," he faltered, "but I'm sure I will tomorrow night. Please don't beat me, and I'll promise to do anything. Please!" But Garofoli had already brought the rawhide switch down across the boy's back with all his force, and Remi turned faint and sick at the boy's screams and the blood that sprang out on the thin white shirt he was wearing. At that moment the door opened again and Remi with a sob of relief saw the long white beard and tattered clothes of Vitali shining like a beacon light from the doorway.

"Don't leave me here," screamed the child, running over to the old man and clutching him around the waist. "This is an awful place! Look!" And he pointed to the whip in Garofoli's hand, while Vitali took in the sight of the child cowering against the wall, his shirt a mass of blood stains.

"Something told me to come back," he said. "What do you mean by beating a child like this, Garofoli?"

"Idle little devil," said Garofoli lightly. "I have been promising him a beating for a week now if he didn't stop his idle, foolish ways and settle down to work. Leave the boy with me, Vitali. I promise you that he will not be mistreated."

But Vitali without another word turned and left the place, taking the frightened boy with him.

"Never mind," he said gently when Remi asked him timidly what they were going to do. "We'll manage to get along somehow. And even if we don't I'll feel better than I would if I had left you to the mercies of a man like that. How he has changed since we were boys together. Ah, many the good time we used to have then." And Vitali forgot his troubles for a while in happy recollections of the past.

They trudged along until at last the lights of Paris were left far behind. The houses began to appear scattered along the road, and there were fewer of them. Finally outside of a tall brick wall which shut in an inner court of some kind, around which several houses and stables were built, Vitali found that he could go no further, and the only thing left to do was to prepare to spend the night in the streets.

Remi lay down as close to the fence as he could get, and Vitali covered him up warmly with his own outer coat. Then he lay down by the child and closed his eyes. In the night sometime he awoke with an awful start. He raised his head quickly, but Remi was still sound asleep. A cold air was blowing with a hint of rain in its damp breath. Vitali felt a sudden need for more air, although the wind was blowing on him with all its force. He rose unsteadily to his feet, grasping the lock on the gate for support, and for a moment stood there gasping for breath and yet shivering in every limb as the wind tore against his thin clothing. Then there came a sudden blackness before his eyes, a sudden inability to stand any longer, and with a little moan he crumpled up in a heap with his head against Remi's warm little mother.

HE IS DEAD

The next morning Farmer Arcueil drove his horses and wagon out of one of the little stables behind the tall fence. The rain was coming down in torrents, and as the stable boy ran ahead of him to swing open the gate, something that had been resting up against it fell in from the other side.

The farmer threw his reins over the dashboard and clambered down hastily at the exclamation from the boy, and together they bent over the body of the old man. He was dead, stone dead, and they lifted him tenderly and put him in the market wagon covering his peaceful old face with an old oilskin. Remi was still sound asleep, nor did he awake when the farmer lifted him and carried him into the house. The rain had not soaked through the heavy outer garment with which the old man had carefully covered him, so there was small danger of his being any the worse for his night in the rain. The farmer put him right to bed, and with a sigh of contentment he turned over as if he had not even been disturbed, while out in the wet market cart poor old Vitali slumbered peacefully in that long sleep from which there is no awakening.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T TRY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am deeply in love with a girl of my own age, and I know that she loves me also. But the trouble is that when I am with this girl I don't keep up a conversation with her long, and many a time there is not a word spoken between us for a lengthy time. Please tell me how I can get over this habit. THOMAS W.

SILENCE between two often denotes a better companionship than constant chatter. So don't neither of you feel that to entertain the other one must "make talk."

IS SURE OF HIS LOVE

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young lady nineteen years of age, and in love with my employer. He has professed his love for me, but I fear he has too high a position and is too wealthy for me, as I have always had to work for my living. Would it be proper to marry him? H.

IF you love each other, yes. You will have no trouble educating yourself to meet your greater responsibilities. But, my dear, "a profession of love" is not an offer of marriage. Be very sure you know just what he means.

GIVE HER TIME

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am nineteen and dearly love a young lady two years my junior. I have told her that I love her, and she says she does not know what love means, but she cares for me a whole lot. What I would like to know is should I try to gain her love or wait a while till she is older and knows what love means.

J. E. S.

SHE does not know what love means now, but is on the way to acquiring the information, and if you remain her true good friend, and are always considerate of her, I am sure you will be the fortunate one to impart the knowledge.

CERTAINLY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty and deeply in love with a young man of twenty-seven. He lives in the country and writes to me regularly. Yesterday I heard he was married and divorced. Would it be proper for me to ask him?

UNCERTAIN.

YOU owe it to him and to yourself to tell him of the rumor. Friendship entitles one to all such rights.

A Third Degree With Some Embarrassing Questions

By NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1914, by International News Service

HAVE you got any small relation in your house who shins up your legs and into your lap, after a party is over and one particular girl that was there has vanished, taking your heart along with her, and, his own small heart "mashed" by the spell of her smile asks 'bout a million questions that are hard to look him in the eye and answer, such as: "Ain't she a VNICE young lady? I like 'er—do you LIKE 'er? Her cheeks is vas SOFT! I patted 'em—di' you pat 'em? She kissed me—lots. Di' she kiss you, too—that would be vnice if she would—wouldn't it?"

And you dare not lift your eyes to the vision of the particular girl. But, oh, it would be "vnice"!

Household Suggestions

In arranging flowers it is often difficult to make them stand up nicely. This difficulty will be overcome if a piece of wire netting be crushed up into a ball and placed in the bowl to hold the flower stems.

To remove red ink stains from table linen, spread freshly-made mustard over the stain and leave for about half an hour. Then sponge off, and all trace of the ink will have disappeared.

Cayenne pepper is excellent to rid cupboards of mice. The floor should be gone over carefully, and each hole stopped up with a piece of rag dipped in water and then in cayenne pepper.

Persons troubled with distressing eruptions of the skin may give their skin a new lease of life by having onions frequently figuring in the diet. Furthermore, disease germs cannot live in the presence of onions, nor can disease germs have any effect on persons whose blood is charged with onion juice.

The Devil in Fatherly Disguise

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IF there were only one warning I was privileged to impress on the brains of my girls that would be indelible to the end of time, it would be this:

"Beware of the man who says his interest in you is fatherly."

The "fatherly interest" is the devil's favorite and most effective weapon. He knows that if a man told a girl his interest in her was brotherly, she would doubt the sincerity of his motives, for brothers, alas, are selfish and make their own interests paramount to the welfare of a sister.

But Father never did. From the time a girl could cuddle her recollection has always been of a father's arm held open to shield her from every harm and to catch her if she fell. Father was always good, always patient, always self-denying, always kind and she is predisposed by childhood memories to put implicit trust in any man who asks to temporarily take his place.

THE HUNTER

Every man of years knows this. The fact that he has daughters seldom militates against his owning on the peace and good name of a girl who is fatherless. He is the hunter, and she is the prey. Bewildered, not knowing from whom to flee, nor which way to turn, she feels like a wanderer in sight of home when some smooth-tongued old man calls to her: "Let me be a father to you, my dear," and she flies straightaway to his embrace.

It is the "fatherly" interest the employer shows to a girl in his employ that is responsible for 50 per cent. of the girls who go wrong.

She has been warned against young men all her life, but no one ever told her that old men were worse. She doubts the word of a young man; she believes implicitly the word of the man whose hair is turning gray. In her relations with him she regards herself as a child, and him as a dear old man, and pours out to him all her worries and troubles and is guided by him in all she does and says.

A SLOW POISON

She remembers at first that he has a wife, and sometimes envies the woman so fortunate as to have such a perfect being for her husband. She is poisoned so slowly she does not know when the first dose was given nor how much she has taken, and can't recall afterward just when or how she learned that the wife is "cold and unappreciative," and that the man is lonely for companionship of one who "understands him."

The sentiment of pity is awakened in her breast; she finds she loves him, and learns through his teaching that the difference in their ages and the existence of a wife count as nothing where two congenial souls meet.

What happens later need not be related further than that it causes the devil to roll with laughter and again his favorite weapon of "Fatherly interest" and found it still keen and sharp.

Daysey Mayme and Her Folks

By FRANCES L. GARSIDE

THERE are times when Daysey Mayme Appleton, after languidly eating the breakfast her mother has prepared, has retired to her room that she may not be annoyed by the dust flying before her mother's broom, nor have her nerves racked by the clatter of pans and dishes, and there has given way to moods of deep depression.

It is then when she feels her uselessness to the world; it is then that she dreams that life must mean more than fudges, rouges and writing the hungry longings of one's soul in a diary; it is then that she becomes so absorbed in listening to a cry from the wilderness for help that she grows deaf to the cry for help from the kitchen, thus proving that her longing to do good is essentially modern.

It was following one of these moods of deep depression that she enlisted in settlement work. With no working knowledge of the difference between a pig and a puree, and a disposition to heal the sick and the suffering by the suggestion that they rest in the Arms of Encircling Good, rather than engage in the plebeian task of making a mustard plaster, she felt well equipped for the work before her. No one, she knew, had memorized more helpful poems than herself.

She had called on a woman in one of those neighborhoods where wife-beating is the sine of indoor sports, and, with many apt quotations of poetry, had essayed to cheer the weeping wife, whose countenance, bedecking one who engages in such royal sport, was rapidly becoming purple. There were a half dozen children in the room, ranging from six weeks to ten years, and the sight was one that made Daysey Mayme contented with spinsterhood.

The husband, the woman explained as she wept, beat her every day, and never earned a cent. The story aroused Daysey Mayme's indignation.

"I wouldn't let a man treat me that way," she said in a burst of wrath.

The woman paused in her weeping. Pushing the straggling locks from eyes that were fast swelling shut, she asked:

"Have you a husband?"—to which Daysey Mayme responded that she hadn't.

"Gee," said the woman, looking commiseratingly at her vision as well as she could through the half an eye that was still visible, "it must be tough to be an old maid."

An Example

Wife (at 3 a. m.)—This is a nice time for a husband to come home!

Husband (good-humoredly)—Shut Mary. This is not a nice time for a husband to come. I am surprised at your saying such a thing. You ought to set your husband a better example!

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by any of the Hiker-Jaynes drug stores under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee. Sold by all Hiker-Jaynes stores.—ADVERTISEMENT.

Made in an unlimited variety of fastenings. Features of note are the extra-large arm shields; removable boning; flap covering rustless hooks and eyes; and our personal guarantee.

For sale by almost every Department Store, Neighborhood Store and Corset Shop. 50c to $6.00.

To Put on Flesh and Increase Weight

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce. Others on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It does not do to say that such is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They just absorb enough of the food they eat to maintain a certain semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty foods so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will tone up the nerves and the digestion and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is one of those remedies which, as everybody believes, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six most effective and powerful elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.—ADVERTISEMENT.

FORBES TELLS OF BUSINESS 'NINCOMPOOP'

By B. C. FORBES.

The man who is bigger than his job keeps cool.

* * *

Confident that he is equal to any emergency, he does not lose his head. He refuses to become rattled, to fly off in a temper, to stamp and holler and swear.

* * *

The man who would control others must be able to control himself.

To command men a man must command respect—and it is difficult to respect any person who is losing his way to exhibitions of weakness.

* * *

The man who feels that his job is larger than he can swing is naturally nervous and irritable. He is conscious that he must be handed in a hole at any moment. And so he frets and fumes and keeps others on tenterhooks ready to blame them for his own short-comings.

* * *

Fancy Napoleon losing his head at the height of a battle! What would the effect have been upon his officers and soldiers?

* * *

In the floor war a commander was hurriedly inspecting his men before advancing to battle. He noticed one Irish private trembling violently. "What's the matter with you?" he demanded. "What are you shaking for?" "I—I—I'm waiting to get at them," was the reply, more witty than true.

* * *

Nervousness and cantankerousness on the part of a boss when confronted with difficulties is a species of fear—fear lest he fail to overcome them. It is a confession of lack of confidence.

* * *

One weakness of our corporate industrial system is that so many under-officials habitually lose their temper and hound the men. Conscious of their own littleness, they hope by bluffing and blustering and bellowing to give themselves an air of importance. No really capable, self-respecting workman would continue to serve under such a petty tyrant, with the consequence that the best men quit and leave the nincompoop in charge of only second-grade employes.

* * *

The wise employer weeds out such blusterers, for, instead of piling the place's machinery, they throw gravel into it.

* * *

I was impressed by an address recently delivered by one of Britain's most famous soldiers, Lord Wolseley, to the officers of his command. Here is an extract:

"Officers, you must exact the men's respect. First by being better up in your subject than the men you instruct. This is intellectual superiority. Secondly, by using ready to undergo greater physical discomforts and dangers. In the Nile River campaign the officer was always first out of the boat and up to his middle in water when need arose. Thirdly, by bearing constantly in mind that the obedience paid you by the rank and file is not due to you personally, but in your capacity as a servant of the State and a humble vehicle of its wishes. The soldier who salutes and obeys you is very likely a better man than yourself, but he must remember, and you especially remember, that in issuing a command you are for the nonce the mouthpiece of the state, conveying not your own wishes, but what you conceive to be the supreme will of the people to others temporarily placed at your disposal by the government. Each is equally the servant of the public. And to some the public has entrusted the function of command, to others that of obedience. Stick to this principle and you will ever exact loyal obedience. Depart from it, and no one can say to what misfortune your lack of understanding may lead."

* * *

That rings true.

* * *

Let me give a five-line item recently printed:

"John J. Thomas, who has just been retired by the Southern Railway, ran a locomotive for fifty years. During that period he never received a demerit and was never suspended."

I don't know John J. Thomas, but I'm willing to wager that he was not given to flying in a rage every day of his life, resenting as his foreman and generally conducting himself as a blind bowl, ready to say hit you, Mr. Thomas. Such as you are among the flowers of our civilization. May you live long to enjoy the leisure you so honorably earned. I'd rather have your record than all the millions of the New Haven Railroad wreckers.

* * *

There is something admirable, something inspiring, something soul-stirring about a man who displays coolness and courage under supremely trying circumstances. He is as a rock, strong, firm, unshakable, not as a reed, tossed to and fro by the wind after the manner of youthful, jumpy hostler.

* * *

A good temper is not only a business asset. It is the secret of health. The longer you live the more you will learn that a disordered temper breeds a disordered body.

* * *

Were worldens less subjected to bullyragging, to the abuse of some excitable cipher, the relations between employers and workmen, between capital and labor, would be less unpleasant than they are today.

* * *

And remember, gentlemen, that on right relations between capital and labor rests the stability of the Republic.

LATEST STOCK MARKETS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were weaker today, opening at recessions and yielding further in most instances during the morning. Although a number recovered partly, the price trend was downward. Among notably weak issues were Chesapeake & Ohio and Canadian Pacific.

Early in the afternoon in New York losses included Chesapeake & Ohio 2¾, Canadian Pacific 1¾, Southern Pacific ¾, Missouri Pacific ¼, Reading ¼, Lehigh Valley ¾, American Can ¾, Steel ¾, Amalgamated ¾, Northern Pacific ¼, Baltimore & Ohio ¾ and Union Pacific ¾. New Haven and American Smelting were a shade higher. Canada Southern fell off ½. Earlier it had been down 1¼. Utah Copper was strong in its group, showing a gain.

In Boston Greene-Cananea was off ¼, Mexican reports being disquieting to American interests in that country. New Haven was off ⅛ and United Fruit ⅝. Alaska Gold had recovered an earlier loss. Fond Creek was down ⅝. Anaconda was weaker in the local market and this helped send Amalgamated off more than a point. B fatterroon the latter had partly recovered, showing only ¼ loss.

OPENED ON A LOWER LEVEL.

Prices were on a lower level when the New York market opened and business was only of moderate volume at the start. The recessional tendency lasted through the first hour, although a number of issues made partial recoveries. The same conditions governed the early part of the afternoon session, although more attention was given to Mexico, reports from Vera Cruz and Washington made traders think the situation had become more acute. There was surprise that the unfavorable crop report had not had more uplifting effect, but the answer was that it had been discounted. Recent crop reports of consequence from all sources have been in the same optimistic strain.

The bill to have the Interstate Commerce Commission supervise the issue of railway securities did not please Wall Street overmuch, in fact pessimistic traders say that the administration intends to rush through Congress, is one of the blackest clouds on the speculative horizon.

AMERICANS DOWN IN LONDON.

Americans continued to drop in London where Canadian Pacific was especially weak. Consols were heavy and the money market showed a tendency to tighten. France and Russia are after all the gold that arrives at the Bank of England. The fact sentiment was blue in London. British traders regard war between the United States and Mexico as extremely probable. In fact, many of them think it inevitable. Hope for peaceful policy of the Washington government. Reports they have received from the rainy districts in Russia in the cereal districts are also very unfavorable. The situation is not regarded as critical and it is reported there are several circumstances there that are going to square with the crop, but while a number of industries, including the iron trade, are slowing up.

WATCHING MISSOURI PACIFIC.

From the start Missouri Pacific, which opened at a decline, was closely watched, there being a rumor that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had balked at Gould terms and might not handle a deal which they have a powerful influence and would take control of the road. There is no doubt that the terms which have not let the public know something about what is going on. It being said that small stockholders are entitled to some consideration. It is hard to reach any definite idea how interests ever gave them any in connection with any great corporation. Small stockholders have to take large chances always. It is reported that the terms which the moon which so much depends may not decide what it is going to do in regard to "Mop" until after the first week in May. It is not going to do anything until it can base its decision upon a thorough knowledge of every phase of the road's condition.

CHESAPEAKE & OHIO RUMOR

The rumor that Chesapeake & Ohio directors will increase the road's dividend rate when they take disbursement action was again persistently circulated. It had effect in London as well as here. The list opened at nearly a point lower on this side and later in the morning was nearly three points below yesterday's closing figure.

Bears were active in seeking weak points in the list. They put pressure upon Amalgamated, upon the assumption that recent Anaconda earnings imperiled the present dividend rate of the former. A local financial publication says:

"A leader in the New York Stock Exchange wants to bet $5,000 even that Utah Copper will cross Amalgamated lands of Anaconda."

The market grew more active when selling pressure strengthened, which was soon after the opening, and first hour transactions were 200,000 shares. Business slackened in the last half of the morning and then the tone improved. The market had little real support ,however.

TRADE REPORTS NOT HOPEFUL.

No change was reported as to conditions in the steel and iron industry, and it was stated that reports of concern indicating thirtyday electrolytic both upon domestic and German accapnt for 14¼ cents a pound. It is understood that supplies can be obtained from smaller selling agencies on the basis of 14⅜ cents. Although a number recovered partly, the price trend was downward. Among notably weak issues were Chesapeake & Ohio and Canadian Pacific.

If You Want to Avoid Smallpox BE VACCINATED

Don't Listen to Well-Meaning Idiots Who Attack Vaccination. They Are Simply IGNORANT.

Copyright, 1914, by the Star Company

We quote for your information and warning a brief, interesting statement from the bulletin issued by the Chicago Department of Health. It interests the whole of the United States, and Massachusetts in particular just now.

Read it through carefully:

On or about December 19, last, an UNVACCINATED man came to Chicago, sick with smallpox. When first taken sick he was visiting in Fort Worth, Tex. From there he moved to Kansas City, where he went about unrestricted for several days, then coming to this city—the nature of his illness still undetermined.

In Chicago he visited a barber shop on Sixty-third street, and as the attending barber was NOT VACCINATED, he gave his disease to the man who shaved him.

He also gave it to his own UNVACCINATED four-year-old child.

Just around the corner from where this man lived there was a family of four young men, ALL FOUR UNVACCINATED. It is probable that the sick man met one of these young men in his travels about the neighborhood. At any rate, one of the young men was taken sick and was treated for chickenpox, until his three brothers also fell victims to a similar disease—then smallpox was suspected and the Department of Health was advised.

Doubtless many persons have been exposed to these cases, the trail leading from Fort Worth, Tex., to Kansas City and Chicago. Fortunately, most persons exposed had been vaccinated at some previous time, and for those so protected no ill results are expected.

Only those not vaccinated need worry about smallpox.

At the present time we have seven persons, victims of smallpox, in the Isolation Hospital, not one of whom has ever been vaccinated.

Don't it look as though vaccination is a simple precaution that every one should adopt?

How about yourself?

Those that are vaccinated do not get smallpox.

The North Americans Indians died of smallpox rapidly, because they were not vaccinated and had not been made immune. When smallpox strikes an Indian village the victims all die. If there happens to be a white man or a half-breed VACCINATED, HE DOES NOT DIE. Bear that in mind.

The little city of Niagara Falls—inspired by a number of ignoramuses, including some so-called "doctors"—decided that vaccination was foolish, and decided also not to be vaccinated. They managed to get control of the little local government and to stamp out the belief in vaccination—for a few minutes.

Presently that little community found itself with more cases of smallpox than the WHOLE CITY OF NEW YORK WITH 5,000,000 inhabitants.

It is one thing to theorize, and quite another thing TO HAVE SMALLPOX.

Have YOURSELF vaccinated, have your CHILDREN vaccinated.

Folk's Great Opportunity

While Attorney-General McReynolds is trying to perfect some "amicable plan" of settling the issues between the government and the New Haven looters without ruffling the temper or offending the tender sensibilities of those gentlemen, Mr. Folk, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, goes determinedly on digging up new evidence of the absolute criminality of those who brought the rich railroad to ruin.

Could there be more direct evidence of effort to conceal something illegal and probably criminal than the use made of a man who was made "dummy treasurer" of the New England Navigation Company? This man was picked up in Portland and paid five dollars a day and his expenses to go to New York and pose as treasurer of this corporation, in which he held no stock, of which he knew nothing whatsoever, and by which he had never been employed. An account was opened for him in a bank by men whom he did not know, and he afterward signed checks totalling $3,000,000 by the direction of three or four men whose names he did not know and all of whom he could remember only that they were "large men."

They were, indeed! And they were doing a large and comfortable business, with other people's money, in a large way with large and lofty contempt for the law.

After two weeks of this riot among millions, of which he got only his per diem and expenses, the dummy treasurer relapsed into private life. But Mr. Folk's inquiries seemed to show that his facile signature was necessary to aid the New Haven officials to juggle their accounts, pay dividends where none had been earned and make a losing maritime property put on an air of prosperity.

It was brought out in evidence that the New England Navigation Company, owned by the New Haven, borrowed millions from the latter corporation and paid the money back again as "dividends," though in fact no dividends were earned. The money actually borrowed still remains unpaid.

These transactions took place in June, 1911, and 1912, during the period of the "reorganization" of the New Haven corporation. Their sole purpose was to make it appear that the navigation company had been a good purchase, and that in making it the directors had not used the railroad's funds unwarrantably. The only way to show this was by making the ships pay dividends. They did not earn dividends, so the railroad corporation lent the money from which to pay them.

This action was as absolutely criminal an offence as the operations of the "get-rich-quick" sharpers in Wall Street who pay huge dividends out of the capital contributed by their dupes. Sharpers of this sort the Federal government has prosecuted with such success that their tribe has almost disappeared from Wall Street. Why is it so dilatory about attacking the bigger criminals, also located in Wall Street, who bankrupted the New Haven corporation and beggared its stockholders?

We compliment Governor Folk on the skill and intrepidity with which he has begun his investigation into the New Haven looting. But we do not know whether to congratulate him upon his position. Under this administration a prosecutor who seems to menace the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. is likely to get his sentence first. Swift exile from office for him.

Perhaps, though, that might be the best thing that could happen to Folk. The country will warm up to any man in this railroad-owned administration who will bring the New Haven bandits to justice.

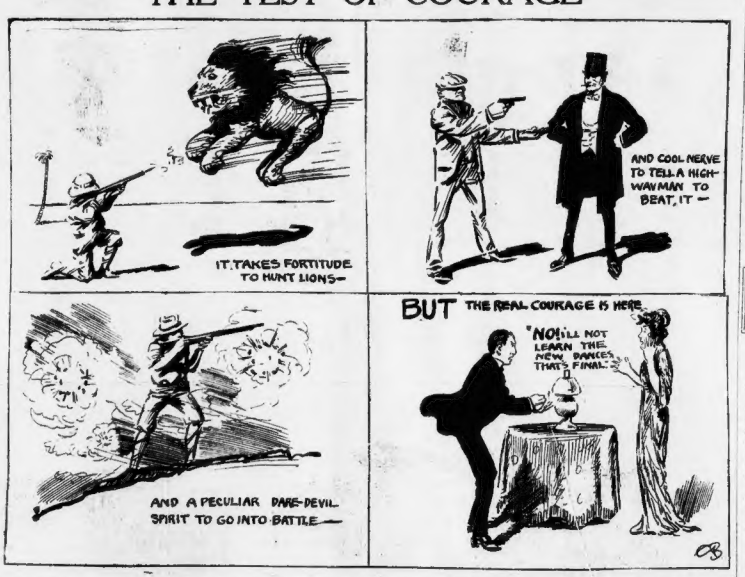
THE TEST OF COURAGE



IT TAKES FORTITUDE TO HUNT LIONS—
AND COOL NERVE TO TELL A HIGHWAYMAN TO BEAT IT —
AND A PECULIAR DARE-DEVIL SPIRIT TO GO INTO BATTLE—
BUT THE REAL COURAGE IS HERE
"NO! I'LL NOT LEARN THE NEW DANCES. THAT'S FINAL."

The Machine and Its Maker

By REV. C. F. AKED, D. D. LL. D.

We cannot get away from the defects of our qualities. This nation has developed a capacity for organization which is as unanimously an inspiration of genius as the sculpture of Phidias or the philosophy of Plato. The art of the Greek, the law of the Roman, the Hebrew passion for righteousness, the genius of the English for colonisation, is not more characteristic nor more significant in the evolution of the race than the genius of the American people for organization.

Such high and notable qualities have their natural defects. In this country, we first make the machine, and then we bow down and worship it. But neither an individual nor a nation can be better than the god it worships. If we first make our gods and then worship them, we end by becoming like them. We worship the machine—and we become machines!

Philanthropic, moral and religious effort is hag-ridden by this superstition of the machine. The worst speech made in America during the last seven years was upon the subject of "The Standardized Church." Every church was to be raised up and leveled down and sawn off lengthwise and chopped across and planed superficially to a standard which, existed in the machine-made mind of the standardizer.

Somewhere in the broad heavens, he seemed to think, there is an everlasting stencil, and with every sweep of the cosmic brush a million souls are produced, all made to measure!

* * *

The gifted organizer wears himself to a shadow in his determination to standardize the world. And we go on discussing—methods—methods! Methods of Sunday school work—or church work, or missionary work—the underlying assumption being that there is one correct, complete, absolute and universal method, and if only we could find it, the work would get done of itself!

Organization is a necessity; but there is danger even in a necessity. The danger is that we leave the organization to do what can only be done by a living spirit. It is the tendency of all human organizations to stifle individuality.

Let the organization follow its own tendency and it drops and dies. It is for the individual to assert himself within the organization, and, if need be, against it. By so doing, he serves its interest and saves its life.

Force and fire brought the organization to birth—force of will and fire of devotion. By force and fire alone can it be fed and kept in vigorous life—force of character and fire of love. The organization is a magnificent piece of machinery. But no mechanical means at present known to mortals will generate energy to set it working and keep it going. Human heart-beats must supply the driving power.

* * *

In the world of mortal effort we meet the idealist whose sublime head strikes the stars—and who tramples human hearts beneath his feet. He lifts up his eyes above the mountains, and he does not know of any healing ministry for the devil-haunted child in the crowded street.

In the world of moral effort we meet still more often the person who thinks himself practical and takes pride from his belief. He will look to the far-off interest of tears, no, not he!

If he is called to preside over the councils of a great nation, the best you can say of him is that he is an extempore statesman, a statesman trying to set the world right by rule of thumb, profoundly ignorant of the nature of the forces with which he is playing, and proudly indifferent to the age-long, world-wide consequences of his acts.

What then? The idealist may be a failure and the practical man a fool. What we want is the practical man who lives by the power of the ideal.

The Fickle Sex—Men Invariably Tire of Women First—They Hurry the Marriage and Then Promptly Weary of It

By DOROTHY DIX

Why do men tire first in all affairs of the heart?

Why do men fall out of love with women before women fall out of love with men?

Why does a man weary of a woman before she does of him?

Why does domesticity so soon get on a man's nerves, while a woman can find it sweeter and sweeter every day for fifty years?

Men do, you know. They tire first in the love game and the marriage game, and there's no use in denying it.

It's the women who bring the breach of promise suits against men who have gotten cold feet and heart failure even before the wedding day. Even when a woman does break her engagement to marry a man, nine times out of ten it is because he has forced her to do it. The Court of Domestic Relations spends its time dealing with cases of wife deserters, but rarely a case of husband desertion comes before it.

Why this is thus is a problem that is up to the psychologists to solve. Certainly, to the average observer, the average woman is quite as good looking and interesting and attractive as the average man. Also it is undoubtedly true that the average woman takes ten times as much trouble, both before and after marriage, to please a man as he does to please her.

Think of how their poor heads ache with four pounds of assorted false hair pinned on it, because some man admires fluffy tresses! Think how uncomfortable their poor faces are kalsomined with paint and powder because men admire peaches and cream complexions! Think of how their poor feet ache squeezed up in shoes two sizes too small, and perched up on French heels because men admire little tootsie wootsies! Think of the torture they undergo from straight fronts and starvation because men admire slim and willowy figures!

Would any man put himself to all this trouble and pain to try to please a woman? Would any man do without what he wanted to eat or drink because it made him fat, and therefore less attractive to women?

It is undeniably true that men get tired of love-making before women do. The real reason every engaged man hurries up his wedding day is because he wants to cut out the soft talk, and the suddenness with which he drops the billing and cooing after the marriage ceremony gives a woman the jar of her life. Her sweet tooth still aches for more verbal confectionery. She still wants to have her hand held, and to be told she's the most beautiful and most wonderful and most darling creature on earth, but the man is nauseated with the bonbons of courtship, and wants to get back to the plain roast beef and potatoes of everyday life. There is no other one thing on earth more pathetic than this—that a woman can go on being a bride to the longest day of her life, while the bridegroom wearies of his sentimental role before ever he is out of the church.

That husbands tire of their wives before their wives do of them is also only too sadly true.

This sad state of affairs is proven by the fact that nearly every middle-aged woman is doing all sorts of stunts to keep herself looking young and attractive so that she may retain her husband's affection, but you never hear of any middle-aged man making any effort to keep himself youthful and romantic-appearing to his wife.

Yet isn't a bay windowed, bald headed, heavy jowled, middle-aged man just as little alluring in looks as a stout, grizzled, middle-aged woman? And wouldn't you think there would be just a little of the halo of romance remaining about the one as the other? Yet the woman is dead afraid that her husband will tire of her and go off after some young and charming girl, but it never occurs to the man that his wife will weary of him and turn her fancy toward some broad shouldered, lithe, upstanding youth.

In the majority of American homes the wife has a much wider conversational range than the husband; she is interested in far more things than he is, and is more entertaining.

It would seem, therefore, that if either one of the two would be bored in their connubial companionship it would be she and not he. This, however, is not the case. It is the man who wearies first.

And when either the husband or wife dies, it is the woman who is oftenest faithful to the memory of the loved and lost. The world is full of widows, but there are very few widowers, because a man seldom stays a widower.

All of which goes to show that men constitute the fickle sex.

Lord Byron—A Turn in the Tide

By REV. THOMAS B. GREGORY

When Byron died at Missolanghi, ninety years ago, there passed out from the ways of men one of the most remarkable spirits of modern times.

Until recently it was considered good taste to cry down Byron, and by common consent he was consigned to the flames of Hell and the companionship of devils.

The tide is turning now, and it is felt that the world's greatest poet since Shakespeare, and the devoted champion of Greek freedom, was something more than a rake, a gin-guzzler, and a misanthrope.

Lord Byron was not a saint. He was a man, human, with good red blood in his veins, and never pretended to be a monk.

In estimating a man's character—that is, what he carves out for himself—it is necessary that we should take into consideration what he starts with, and the nature of his early environment. Then let it be borne in mind that Byron was the son of a brutal roisterer, who illtreated his wife, squandered her property, then deserted her; that his mother was a hotness, so passionate that in moments of fury she would rend in pieces her clothing and hats, call her son a "dame brat," throw the fire-shovel at his head, then caress him and weep over him; that both parents alternated calm and storm, and that they quarrelled so terribly that each was in the habit of going to the drug store to see if the other had bought poison. It would have been strange indeed had the product of such fire and passion been a sort of human "cucumber on ice."

The glory of Byron lies in the fact that, having inherited this terrible passion, he finally curbed it sufficiently to make it serve him along the higher levels of intellectual and ethical achievement. Instead of committing suicide, or living and dying a sot and a libertine, he managed to write some of the finest poetry in the world, and wound up his brief career unselfishly struggling to make a long oppressed people free.

As a poet, Byron has no equal in the whole range of literature. Of course, there is but one Dante, but one Shakespeare, but one Goethe, and with equal truth it may be said that there is but one Byron. Byron was more than a poet, as that word is generally used—he was a seer. He saw things, and what he saw he depicted. He told the truth, a thing that many poets never think of doing. And because he told the truth he was hated.

All honor to the man who defied the lightning of public opinion and dared to write what was true.
